RestoPros of Intown Atlanta Achieves IICRC Certification to Elevate Restoration Standards

April 08, 2026

ATLANTA, GA - April 08, 2026 -
RestoPros of Intown Atlanta, a leading restoration service provider serving the greater Atlanta metropolitan area, has achieved certification from the Institute of Inspection, Cleaning and Restoration Certification (IICRC), demonstrating the company's commitment to maintaining the highest industry standards in property restoration services.

The IICRC certification validates the technical expertise and professional capabilities of the restoration team at RestoPros of Intown Atlanta, ensuring that all restoration work meets rigorous industry benchmarks. This certification encompasses the company's full range of services, including water damage restoration, mold remediation, fire and smoke damage cleanup, and storm recovery operations.

The certification process required extensive training and examination of restoration technicians in proper procedures, safety protocols, and the latest restoration technologies. With this achievement, property owners throughout Atlanta and surrounding communities, including Buckhead, College Park, Douglasville, and Smyrna, can have increased confidence in the quality and reliability of restoration services provided.

"Achieving IICRC certification represents a significant milestone for our team and reinforces our dedication to providing the Atlanta community with restoration services that meet the highest professional standards," said Averi Magnuson, Owner and President of RestoPros of Intown Atlanta. "This certification ensures our clients receive the safest, most efficient restoration solutions backed by industry-recognized expertise and proven methodologies."

The IICRC sets global standards for the inspection, cleaning, and restoration industries, with certified firms required to maintain ongoing education and adhere to a strict code of ethics. For property owners facing water damage, the certification means restoration work will follow established protocols that minimize secondary damage, reduce restoration time, and ensure thorough documentation for insurance purposes.

Water Damage Restoration Atlanta GA residents rely on requires specialized knowledge of moisture detection, structural drying, and antimicrobial application. The IICRC certification program ensures technicians understand the science behind effective water extraction, proper dehumidification techniques, and the prevention of mold growth following water intrusion events.

The certification also enhances the company's capabilities in handling complex restoration scenarios, from burst pipes and flooding to fire damage and storm-related emergencies. Certified technicians receive training in advanced restoration techniques, proper use of specialized equipment, and coordination with insurance providers to streamline the claims process.

With 30 years of combined industry experience, the restoration professionals at the company have built a reputation for dependable service and quality workmanship. The addition of IICRC certification further strengthens their ability to serve both residential and commercial clients facing property damage emergencies.

The company maintains 24/7 emergency response capabilities, ensuring certified technicians are available whenever disaster strikes. Their comprehensive restoration process includes initial assessment, water extraction, structural drying, cleaning, and complete restoration, all performed according to IICRC guidelines.

RestoPros of Intown Atlanta specializes in water damage restoration, fire and smoke damage restoration, mold remediation, and storm damage recovery. The company serves Atlanta and surrounding communities with round-the-clock emergency response services, free inspections, and detailed project quotes. Their team follows established industry guidelines while maintaining full insurance coverage for all restoration projects.
