RED WING, MN - March 04, 2026 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Musty-Barnhart, an independent insurance agency serving communities in Minnesota and Wisconsin, draws attention to the critical need for appropriate insurance coverage during the winter season. With harsh weather conditions common in the area, including heavy snowfall, ice accumulation, and freezing temperatures, residents and businesses face increased risks to property and safety. This focus on seasonal preparedness underscores the agency's commitment to helping clients safeguard their assets against potential losses.

Winter in the upper Midwest brings specific challenges that can lead to significant financial impacts if not properly addressed through insurance. Homeowners may encounter issues such as roof damage from snow weight, frozen pipes causing water damage, or storm-related destruction. Auto accidents rise due to slippery roads, while recreational activities involving snowmobiles or ATVs carry their own hazards. Businesses, particularly in hospitality or contracting, might experience disruptions from weather events affecting operations or liability concerns. Musty-Barnhart provides a range of policies designed to mitigate these risks, ensuring clients have access to tailored protections.

For personal insurance, Musty-Barnhart offers homeowners coverage that addresses property damage from fire, storms, theft, and certain types of water incidents. This includes liability protection for injuries occurring on the premises. Policies can be customized for unique properties, such as historic homes or lakeside residences, which are prevalent in the agency's service areas. Auto insurance encompasses collision, comprehensive, uninsured or underinsured motorist protection, and medical payments, helping drivers meet state requirements in Minnesota and Wisconsin while preparing for winter road conditions.

Renters insurance from Musty-Barnhart covers personal belongings against theft, fire, smoke, and specific water damage, along with liability and additional living expenses if a rental becomes uninhabitable due to a covered event. Umbrella policies extend liability limits beyond standard home or auto coverage, offering an extra layer of security for those with substantial assets or higher exposure. Recreational vehicle insurance protects boats, ATVs, snowmobiles, motorcycles, and similar items, including physical damage, liability, theft, and accessories, which aligns with the outdoor lifestyles common in the region.

On the business side, Musty-Barnhart tailors insurance programs for various industries, including hospitality, non-profits, contractors, manufacturing, restaurants, and medical spas. Coverage options include directors and officers liability, special events protection, buildings and personal property insurance, collectibles floaters, property of others, contractors' errors and omissions, pollution coverage, builders risk, professional liability, general liability, and risk management assistance. For resorts, hotels, or motels, policies address property management, guided activities like hiking or kayaking, and compliance needs. Non-profits benefit from protections for fundraising events and museum items. Contractors receive support for home building, HVAC, excavation, electrical work, nurseries, landscaping, and plumbing. Manufacturing covers cabinet shops, metal goods, food products, and fabrication. Restaurants get liability for dining, liquor, cafes, bakeries, delis, catering, and food trucks. Med spas have specialized professional and general liability.

As an insurance agency in Lake City, MN, Musty-Barnhart extends its expertise to nearby areas, emphasizing the value of reviewing policies ahead of peak winter months. Agents assess individual needs, compare options from multiple carriers, and craft plans that evolve with changing circumstances. This approach prioritizes clear explanations and advocacy during claims, fostering trust through personalized service rather than standardized quotas.

Lindsay Kubes, an agent at Musty-Barnhart, noted the practical aspects of winter coverage. "Residents in our communities often deal with severe weather that can disrupt daily life and cause unexpected damage. Having the right insurance in place, such as comprehensive auto or homeowners policies, provides a necessary safety net to recover quickly without overwhelming financial strain."

Kubes also added perspective on business protections. "Local enterprises, from restaurants to contractors, need to consider how winter conditions affect their operations. Tailored business insurance can cover liability from slip-and-fall incidents or property damage from storms, allowing owners to focus on their core activities."

These insights reflect the agency's role in educating clients about risk factors and coverage options. By partnering with top-rated carriers, Musty-Barnhart ensures access to reliable policies that suit diverse needs. The emphasis remains on building long-term relationships and providing responsive support, including education on policy details and assistance with compliance.

Musty-Barnhart operates as an independent insurance agency with offices in Red Wing, Lake City, Ellsworth, and Lutsen. The agency specializes in personal and business insurance, drawing on a team dedicated to superior service and community involvement. Through its mission to protect what matters most to clients, Musty-Barnhart continues to serve the region with integrity and expertise.
