April 05, 2016

April 05, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Dog Fence Reviews, an online business operating out of Kent, WA, is proving to be a go to source for information about dog fences and other dog security and safety related issues. A lot of interest has already surrounded their latest release, which is a review of the Petsafe wireless pet containment system. The review can be accessed through <http://www.dogfencereviews.net/petsafe-wireless-pet-containment-system/>.

Kate Ramsey from Dog Fence Reviews says: "Our goal is to make sure that people have all the information they need to ensure their pets are safe, healthy, and happy. In our latest review of the Petsafe system, we discuss the various pros and cons that we found with this particular product. We aim to empower people to make the right decisions for their own personal needs and we're happy to see that the review is already getting a lot of interest."

Dog Fence Reviews, as can be seen on <http://www.dogfencereviews.net/wireless-dog-fence-reviews/>, has reviewed a number of different wireless dog fences. Those fences are said to be the most technologically advanced systems on the market today. They are effective in ensuring animals are contained within a given area, but don't have the dangers usually associated with old fashioned dog fences, which require electric cables.

For Dog Fence Reviews, the goal is to be open and honest about any system that they test. Because these systems are often quite expensive, they feel it is important that people become more aware of the pros and cons of their different options, so that they invest in something that is most likely to work for them. As such, in their Petsafe review, they address the various benefits (easy to install, portable, suitable for all dogs), but also the disadvantages that they experienced. "The only real issues we could find with the system is the price, and the fact that the dog needs to be trained to use it properly," adds Kate Ramsey. "However, you pay for what you get, and dog training is required regardless of the chosen system."
