BERKSHIRE, UK - May 12, 2026 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

OA Design Marketing Ltd, operating as Edge To Edge Home (Flooring Berkshire) - Flooring Cookham Dean, emphasizes the importance of professional flooring selection and installation as property owners throughout Berkshire prepare for interior renovation projects this season. The company provides comprehensive flooring services across residential and commercial properties in Cookham Dean and surrounding areas.

The flooring specialist offers an extensive range of materials and installation services, including hardwood, laminate, luxury vinyl tile, luxury vinyl plank, carpet, and linoleum options. Each flooring solution is tailored to meet specific requirements for durability, aesthetic appeal, and budget considerations, with prices ranging from £20 to £100 per square meter depending on material selection and installation complexity.

"Property owners often underestimate the impact that quality flooring has on both the functionality and value of their spaces," said Oliver Andrews, Director of Operations at OA Design Marketing Ltd. "Our approach combines technical expertise with design consultation to ensure each client receives flooring solutions that balance practical requirements with visual appeal, whether they're updating a single room or undertaking a complete property renovation."

The company's service portfolio encompasses initial consultation, material selection guidance, professional installation, and restoration services including floor sanding and renovation. Both residential and commercial clients benefit from access to products from globally recognized manufacturers, ensuring quality and longevity in every installation.

Recent industry data indicates that flooring replacement remains one of the most impactful home improvements for property value enhancement. The company addresses this demand by maintaining expertise across multiple flooring categories, allowing clients to make informed decisions based on traffic patterns, maintenance requirements, and design preferences.

Commercial clients particularly benefit from specialized solutions designed to withstand heavy foot traffic while maintaining aesthetic standards. The company's commercial services include dedicated wood, laminate, and luxury vinyl tile installations engineered for durability in high-use environments.

"The selection process involves more than choosing attractive materials," Andrews explained. "Factors such as subfloor conditions, moisture levels, room usage, and long-term maintenance all influence the optimal flooring choice. Our consultation process addresses these technical considerations while respecting design preferences and budget parameters."

OA Design Marketing Ltd serves Cookham Dean and broader Berkshire locations, providing consistent service standards across all project scales. The company's methodology integrates craftsmanship with practical knowledge, guiding clients through material selection, style options, and installation methods to achieve optimal results.
