

Cherokee Animal Hospital Named Best Veterinarian Practice in 2026 Cherokee Tribune Awards

March 07, 2026

CANTON, GA - March 07, 2026 -
Cherokee Animal Hospital has been recognized as a leading veterinary practice in the 2026 Best of Cherokee Awards, as determined by community voting through the Cherokee Tribune & Ledger-News. The annual awards program, which ran from January 26 through February 13, 2026, allowed residents to vote daily for their preferred local businesses and services across multiple categories.

The Canton, Georgia-based veterinary clinic earned this distinction through its comprehensive approach to pet healthcare, offering services ranging from routine wellness exams to advanced alternative therapies including acupuncture and laser treatment. The recognition reflects the hospital's commitment to providing quality veterinary care to the Cherokee County community.

"This award represents the trust our community places in us to care for their beloved pets," said Chris Bryant, Hospital Administrator at Cherokee Animal Hospital. "Every member of our team is dedicated to delivering compassionate, comprehensive veterinary care, and this recognition validates our approach of treating both pets and the people who love them."

The Best of Cherokee Awards program enables residents to acknowledge excellence among local businesses and professionals across various sectors including healthcare, dining, and professional services. Winners are selected through a democratic voting process where community members can cast ballots daily throughout the designated voting period. The 2026 awards ceremony is scheduled for April 28, 2026, where all category winners will be formally recognized.

Cherokee Animal Hospital vet services encompass a full spectrum of veterinary medicine, from preventive care such as vaccinations and dental cleanings to surgical procedures including spaying and neutering. The hospital has also distinguished itself by offering behavioral consultations and alternative treatment modalities, addressing the diverse health needs of pets at every life stage.

The facility maintains advanced diagnostic capabilities with digital radiography, ultrasound technology, and in-house laboratory testing, enabling prompt and accurate diagnosis of various health conditions. Additionally, the hospital provides boarding services supervised by veterinary staff, ensuring pets receive professional care even when their owners are away.

"Being voted as a top veterinary practice reinforces our mission to provide exceptional care while building lasting relationships with pet owners," added Bryant. "We view this recognition as motivation to continue expanding our services and maintaining the highest standards of veterinary medicine."

The award comes as Cherokee Animal Hospital continues to evolve its service offerings. The independent veterinary practice recently expanded its facility to better serve the growing Cherokee County pet population, demonstrating its commitment to meeting increasing demand for quality veterinary services in the region.
