

White Oak Landscape Expands Outdoor Living Spaces for Atlanta Commercial Properties

March 13, 2026

MARIETTA, GA - March 13, 2026 -
White Oak Landscape has expanded its commercial landscaping services to meet growing demand for outdoor living spaces at Atlanta-area businesses, as companies increasingly recognize the value of creating inviting exterior environments for employees and visitors.

The Atlanta-based landscaping firm specializes in designing and installing outdoor walkways, seating areas, and garden spaces that extend indoor environments into the natural landscape. These commercial outdoor installations provide businesses with versatile spaces where staff can take breaks, hold informal meetings, or welcome guests in a relaxed setting.

The expansion comes as Atlanta businesses continue adapting their properties to accommodate changing workplace preferences and visitor expectations. Commercial properties throughout the metro area are investing in outdoor amenities that blur the lines between interior and exterior spaces, creating more dynamic and appealing environments.

"Commercial properties are recognizing that outdoor spaces significantly enhance their appeal and functionality," said Rocky DeVotie, President of White Oak Landscape. "We're seeing tremendous interest from businesses wanting to transform underutilized exterior areas into productive spaces that benefit both employees and visitors. These installations go beyond traditional landscaping to create genuine outdoor rooms that complement indoor facilities."

White Oak outdoors installations typically include features such as paved walkways, comfortable seating arrangements, shade structures, and strategic plantings that define spaces while maintaining connection to the surrounding landscape. The company works closely with commercial property managers and business owners to develop designs that align with corporate culture and practical needs.

The trend toward outdoor commercial spaces reflects broader shifts in how businesses approach their physical environments. Research indicates that access to outdoor spaces can improve employee satisfaction and productivity while also creating positive impressions for clients and visitors. Atlanta's mild climate makes outdoor spaces particularly valuable, as they can be utilized throughout much of the year.

White Oak Landscape brings extensive experience in commercial landscaping to these projects, understanding the unique requirements of business properties including durability, maintenance considerations, and compliance with commercial building codes. The company's design team considers factors such as traffic flow, accessibility requirements, and integration with existing architecture when developing outdoor living spaces.

"Every commercial property has unique opportunities for outdoor development," added DeVotie. "Whether it's converting an unused courtyard into a lunch area or creating walking paths through existing green space, we help businesses maximize their outdoor potential."

The company's commercial services extend beyond initial installation to include ongoing maintenance programs that ensure outdoor spaces remain attractive and functional throughout the seasons. This comprehensive approach helps businesses protect their investment while maintaining professional appearances.

White Oak Landscape has served the Atlanta metropolitan area for over a decade, specializing in commercial landscaping design, installation, and maintenance. The company focuses on creating sustainable outdoor environments that enhance property values and improve the experience of those who use these spaces daily.
