Farmers Insurance - Ulysses Campos Announces Enhanced Digital Resources for San Antonio Home and Auto Insurance Clients

March 16, 2026

SAN ANTONIO, TX - March 16, 2026 -
Farmers Insurance - Ulysses Campos has announced the expansion of its digital educational resources and streamlined service processes for insurance clients in the San Antonio area, reflecting broader industry shifts toward digital engagement and transparency in insurance services.

The San Antonio-based insurance agency, operating as UC Insurance Agency under the Farmers Insurance network, has implemented new digital tools and educational content designed to help clients better understand their coverage options across homeowners, automobile, life, business, and specialty insurance products.

"The insurance industry is evolving rapidly, and clients expect more transparency and accessibility in understanding their coverage options," said Ulysses Campos, agency owner. "We have expanded our educational resources and digital presence to meet these changing expectations while maintaining the personalized service that local clients value."

The agency's auto insurance services now include enhanced online resources that explain liability, collision, and comprehensive coverage options available to San Antonio drivers. These digital tools complement the agency's traditional consultation services, allowing clients to research coverage options before meeting with agents.

The expansion comes as the Texas Department of Insurance reports increased demand for digital insurance services across the state, with more consumers seeking online educational resources before making coverage decisions. San Antonio has seen particular growth in this area, with local agencies adapting to meet evolving client preferences.

Beyond automobile coverage, the agency has developed new educational content focused on property and homeowners insurance, addressing common questions about coverage for residential and rental properties. This initiative responds to San Antonio's continued population growth and the corresponding increase in property insurance inquiries.

The agency also provides business insurance solutions that address liability protection and commercial vehicle coverage needs. These offerings serve San Antonio's diverse business community, from individual entrepreneurs to established companies requiring comprehensive coverage portfolios.

"Insurance literacy remains a significant challenge across all demographics," noted Campos. "By providing accessible educational content alongside our insurance services, we help clients make informed decisions about their coverage needs, whether they're protecting a home, vehicle, business, or planning for their family's future."

Additional services offered by the agency include life insurance options, with both term life policies for temporary coverage needs and whole life insurance for long-term protection. The agency also provides specialty insurance for specific activities and assets, along with financial planning guidance including retirement planning and asset protection strategies.

The agency's educational initiatives include a regularly updated blog covering topics such as retirement planning fundamentals, life insurance considerations, and specialty vehicle coverage requirements. These resources are designed to help clients understand insurance concepts and coverage options before making purchasing decisions.

Farmers Insurance - Ulysses Campos operates as UC Insurance Agency, serving San Antonio and surrounding areas with a comprehensive range of insurance and financial services. As an affiliate of Farmers Insurance, the agency combines the resources of a national insurance network with local market knowledge. The agency specializes in homeowners, automobile, property, life, business, and specialty insurance products, along with financial planning services designed to address the insurance needs of individuals, families, and businesses throughout the San Antonio region.
