CABINS, WV - March 16, 2026 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Woodlawn Trees and Tree Care, a full-service tree company based in Newville, Pennsylvania, emphasizes its commitment to professional arboriculture as the company continues serving central Pennsylvania and northeastern West Virginia with comprehensive tree care solutions after more than 35 years in the industry.

The family-owned Tree Company maintains its focus on delivering expert tree services ranging from pruning and health care to removal and planting services. Led by Board Certified Master Arborist Matt and his sons Zachary and Toby, the company combines extensive knowledge with hands-on expertise to address diverse tree care needs throughout the region.

"Our approach to tree care goes beyond basic maintenance," said Matt, owner and Board Certified Master Arborist at Woodlawn Trees and Tree Care. "Every tree presents unique challenges and opportunities, whether we're performing routine pruning, addressing health concerns, or managing tree Removal projects. Our three and a half decades of experience allow us to provide solutions that protect both property and the natural environment."

The company's comprehensive service portfolio addresses all aspects of tree management. Their pruning services focus on removing specific branches or stems to benefit overall tree health while protecting against diseases and pests. The tree health care division diagnoses and treats various conditions affecting tree vitality, ensuring long-term sustainability of residential and commercial landscapes.

When trees become hazardous due to disease, death, or structural issues, Woodlawn's removal services provide safe and efficient solutions. The team possesses the specialized equipment and expertise necessary to handle trees of all sizes, minimizing risk to surrounding property and people during the removal process.

Beyond maintenance and removal, Woodlawn operates a tree nursery featuring diverse species suited to local environmental conditions. Their planting services include consultation on species selection based on specific site requirements, soil conditions, and client objectives. This comprehensive approach ensures newly planted trees thrive in their environments.

The company's consultation services extend expert guidance to property owners seeking to maintain healthy tree ecosystems. Drawing from extensive knowledge of regional tree species and environmental factors, the team provides actionable recommendations for ongoing tree care and maintenance strategies.

Client testimonials consistently highlight Woodlawn's professionalism, technical knowledge, and work quality. Property owners throughout central Pennsylvania have relied on the company's expertise for both routine maintenance and complex tree management projects.

Woodlawn Trees and Tree Care in Maysville continues to serve residential and commercial clients across central Pennsylvania and northeastern West Virginia. The company's longevity in the industry reflects its dedication to professional standards, environmental stewardship, and customer satisfaction. Through combining traditional arboriculture practices with current industry knowledge, Woodlawn maintains its position as a trusted resource for comprehensive tree care services in the region.
