Govivo, a provider of a number of health and fitness products, is proud to announce that their running belt for large sized phones has been featured on famadillo.com. This is a website that is known as the ultimate resource for stay at home mothers and specializes in things such as family tips, travel, and tidbits. Having been featured there is a testament to the quality and popularity of their running belt. Govivo's Media Director says: "We're so proud to have been featured on such a popular website. It really shows us that we have done things right."

The Govivo running belt is suitable for larger sized phones, including the iPhone 6 Plus. It comes with two pockets, one of which holds the phone, protecting it from scratches during running. The second pocket can hold smaller things such as cash and keys, or anything else that people may need to take with them when they are working out.

The soft, lightweight fabric of the main pocket prevents chafing. It is also fully water-resistant. It comes with an adjustable elastic waistband, which means people with waist sizes from 28 to 46 can use it. As such, it is suitable for the vast majority of people.

The running pack has been designed to be perfect for people involved in cross country running or trail running, beach walking, motorcycle or bike riding, doing errands, visiting Disney, hiking, or any other type of fitness activity. It can also be used as a money belt or wallet that men and women alike can use during travel, as it provides concealed storage. It has a durable buckle for a tight fit and stability. This means there is no bouncing or riding up. The zipper is near the top, which enables users to easily put in or remove their items. At the same time, it stays away from the skin to avoid causing irritation.

Govivo is a family owned and operated business. The company offers a wide variety of products, most of which can be found in the Amazon marketplace. More about them and the list of products that they offer can be seen on their official website.
