Prop Depot Expands Marine Propeller Sales and Repair Services to Meet Growing Boating Demand

March 24, 2026

KNOXVILLE, TN - March 24, 2026 -

Prop Depot, a specialized marine propeller shop, has expanded its inventory and repair capabilities to address increasing demand from boat owners seeking performance upgrades and maintenance solutions for the upcoming boating season. The company now offers an extensive selection of propellers from leading manufacturers including ACME, Mercury, OJ, Volvo, Powertech, Michigan Wheel, and Solas, along with accelerated repair services featuring 3-5 day turnaround times.

The expansion comes as recreational boating continues to grow nationwide, with more vessel owners seeking reliable propeller solutions for various marine applications. Prop Depot maintains comprehensive inventory spanning outboard and sterndrive propellers, specialized wake and surf props, cruiser propellers, and advanced POD drive systems for Volvo Penta and Mercury Zeus configurations. The company also stocks aluminum props, demo units, and essential marine accessories including prop pullers.

"The marine industry has seen significant growth in both new boat sales and existing vessel maintenance needs," said a Prop Depot spokesperson. "By expanding our inventory and streamlining our repair processes, we can better serve boat owners who need reliable propeller solutions, whether they're upgrading performance or addressing damage from regular use."

Marine Propellers for Sale at the facility include options for virtually every boating application, from recreational fishing vessels to high-performance ski boats. The company's prop finder service helps customers identify the correct specifications for their particular vessel and engine configuration, ensuring optimal performance and fuel efficiency.

The repair division handles damaged propellers with specialized equipment and expertise, addressing common issues such as bent blades, edge damage, and hub problems. Same-day shipping is available for new propeller orders, while the repair facility maintains its commitment to completing wake, surf, and stainless steel propeller repairs within a 3-5 day window.

Boat Propellers for Sale through the company include both new and reconditioned options, providing solutions for various budgets. The demo and liquidation inventory offers cost-effective alternatives for boat owners seeking quality propellers at reduced prices. Each propeller undergoes inspection to ensure it meets performance standards before sale.

"Propeller selection and maintenance directly impact boat performance, fuel consumption, and overall safety on the water," noted the Prop Depot representative. "Our goal is to provide boat owners with both the products and expertise needed to maintain their vessels properly and enjoy their time on the water."

The company's technical staff assists customers in selecting appropriate propellers based on specific boat specifications, engine types, and intended use patterns. This consultative approach helps ensure customers receive propellers matched to their unique requirements, whether for cruising, watersports, or commercial applications.

Prop Depot operates as a comprehensive marine propeller resource, combining retail sales of new and used propellers with professional repair services. The company serves recreational boaters, marine professionals, and commercial vessel operators throughout the region, maintaining extensive inventory to meet diverse propeller needs across multiple boat types and marine propulsion systems.
