Sun-Wind Solutions LLC, a solar installation business in Fairfield, CT, wants to draw attention to the benefits of solar energy solutions for homeowners in Connecticut, particularly in Fairfield. With statewide programs such as Solarize CT and the recent extension of federal tax rebates, the numbers of homeowners opting to convert to renewable energy sources such as solar electric are growing tremendously. In addition to programs like Solarize CT, there are also strong advantages to working directly with home solar installers like Sun-Wind Solutions.

Bill Giglio from Sun-Wind Solutions LLC says: "We want consumers to be aware of the fact that there are alternatives to the Solarize program in Connecticut. We offer a free, on site evaluation, which enables them to find out whether our alternative may be of better value to them. This on site evaluation is no obligation, so people have nothing to lose and everything to gain by giving us a call."

The free on-site solar evaluation starts with a telephone call, during which a representative from Sun-Wind Solutions LLC will determine whether or not installing a solar array is a viable solution. If the property is deemed appropriate, a representative will come out for a no obligation survey of the home. During this time, the homeowners will also have the opportunity to ask various questions, such as how the system works and more.

Sun-Wind Solutions LLC wants to make sure that people can choose the solar system that is best for their personal needs. This is why they recommend that homeowners find more info on Fairfield Solarize CT program as well. In so doing, they will have the opportunity to really compare the two different options.

"Of course, we want people to order their solar array through us," adds Bill Giglio. "But what we want even more is for people to make the right decision for their own needs. We must encourage everyone to become less dependent on fossil fuels. If they can achieve that best through the Solarize CT program, that's great, but in many cases, we can provide a system that is better suited for your needs and budget."

Sun-Wind Solutions LLC is setting itself apart as the solar installation company of choice for residential homeowners and commercial property managers in Fairfield and the entire state of Connecticut.
