

Leven Rose Introduces New Organic Carrot Seed Oil

April 11, 2016

April 11, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Leven Rose, a natural beauty company based in Colorado Springs, Colorado, recently launched their new organic, natural, and 100% Pure Carrot Seed Oil. This oil is cold-pressed, unrefined, with great skin enriching properties. Cold-pressing this oil extracts the oil from the seeds of the carrot, using cooler temperatures, which helps it from losing molecular value. This adds great benefits for the skin, hair, and body.

Courtney Olson, of Leven Rose, explains that "due to the powerful amount of carotenoids and antioxidants, our Carrot Seed Oil offers mild UV protection and can help repair sun damage. Also, this oil helps condition hair and deeply moisturize dry and cracked skin. Carrot Seed Oil is really restorative plus has a sweet scent which our customers enjoy."

Olson says that this oil should be added to natural sunscreen for additional protection from harmful UV rays. Also, if there is prior sun damage, Carrot Seed Oil can also be used as a daily moisturizer to restore skin tone and brown spots, moisturize dry or peeling skin, and even increase elasticity and firmness of skin.

More about this oil can be seen at <https://www.levenrose.com/collections/leven-rose-collection/products/carrot-seed-oil-1-oz>.

Carrot Seed Oil is ideal for mature skin types, as well as damaged hair. This oil can be added to daily routine as a detoxifier to smooth skin complexion. Also, it can be added to a weekly scalp massage or mixed with shampoos and conditioners to add more fullness to the hair and a more brilliant shine.

Leven Rose shares that their product contains no additives, no parabens, no fillers, and they use dark amber glass bottles to extend shelf life, as organics are light sensitive.
