April 03, 2026

GARLAND, TX - April 03, 2026 -
Keathley Landscaping has expanded its custom patio cover and pergola construction services throughout North Texas, responding to increased homeowner demand for enhanced outdoor living spaces. The Dallas-based landscaping company, which has served the region since 2002, now offers an expanded range of handcrafted outdoor structures designed to transform ordinary backyards into private sanctuaries.

The expansion includes a broader selection of design options and materials for both pergolas and patio covers, ranging from traditional wood construction to modern aluminum designs and hybrid solutions that combine multiple materials. Each structure is custom-designed and built on-site to complement the unique characteristics of individual properties while meeting specific client needs.

"The demand for quality outdoor living spaces has grown significantly as homeowners recognize the value these structures add to their properties," said Logan Keathley, founder and NDS Certified Drainage Contractor at Keathley Landscaping. "Our expanded services allow us to offer more comprehensive solutions that go beyond basic structure installation to create cohesive outdoor environments that serve as natural extensions of indoor living spaces."

The company's approach to creating custom pergolas and patios begins with detailed consultation and design work. Design specialists work closely with homeowners in Allen and surrounding communities to develop plans that integrate seamlessly with existing landscaping and architectural elements. Each project utilizes premium materials selected specifically for their durability and resistance to Texas weather conditions, ensuring longevity and minimal maintenance requirements.

Beyond pergola and patio cover construction, the expansion addresses the growing need for integrated outdoor improvement services. The company provides comprehensive solutions, including outdoor kitchens, fire pits, fireplaces, stonework, retaining walls, and landscape lighting. This integrated service model allows homeowners to complete entire backyard transformations through a single contractor, streamlining project management and ensuring consistency in quality and design.

As a certified drainage contractor, the company also ensures that new structures properly manage water flow and prevent common issues such as pooling or erosion that can compromise both the structure and the surrounding landscape. This expertise proves particularly valuable when installing patios and other hardscape features that require proper grading and drainage considerations.

The expanded services support the company's mission of creating outdoor spaces that enhance both property value and quality of life for homeowners. Each custom pergola and patio cover is engineered to provide optimal shade coverage while maintaining aesthetic appeal that complements the overall landscape design.

Keathley Landscaping serves residential clients throughout North Texas, including Plano, Richardson, Allen, Wylie, Garland, and surrounding communities. The company specializes in landscape design and construction, drainage solutions, fence installation and repair, sod installation, and comprehensive lawn care services. Known for combining quality craftsmanship with practical solutions, the company has built a reputation over two decades for delivering durable, beautiful outdoor spaces that meet the evolving needs of North Texas homeowners.
