

Keathley Landscaping Expands Custom Built Pergolas and Patio Cover Services Across North Texas

April 07, 2026

GARLAND, TX - April 07, 2026 -
Keathley Landscaping, a Dallas-based outdoor living contractor, has expanded its custom patio cover and pergola construction services throughout North Texas communities. The expansion addresses growing homeowner demand for professionally designed outdoor living spaces that combine durability with sophisticated design elements.

The company's enhanced service offerings include a broader selection of design options and materials for both custom pergolas and patio covers. Homeowners can now choose from traditional wood construction, modern aluminum designs, and hybrid solutions that incorporate multiple materials. Each structure is handcrafted to meet specific property requirements and architectural styles, transforming ordinary backyards into functional outdoor living areas.

"We've seen tremendous growth in requests for custom patios and pergola installations across the region," said Logan Keathley, owner of Keathley Landscaping. "Homeowners are recognizing that these structures not only provide essential shade and comfort during Texas summers but also significantly increase property value. Our expanded services allow us to deliver more design options while maintaining the quality craftsmanship we've provided since 2002."

The expansion particularly benefits residents seeking custom pergola Sachse installations and throughout surrounding communities including Plano, Richardson, Allen, Wylie, and Garland. Each project begins with detailed consultation and design work, where specialists collaborate with homeowners to develop plans that integrate seamlessly with existing landscaping and architectural elements.

Beyond pergola and patio cover construction, the company provides comprehensive outdoor improvement services that complement these structures. These include outdoor kitchens, fire pits, fireplaces, stonework, retaining walls, and landscape lighting. This integrated approach allows homeowners to complete entire backyard transformations through a single contractor, ensuring consistency in quality and design throughout the project.

As a certified NDS drainage contractor, Keathley Landscaping also addresses critical water management considerations during installation. Proper grading and drainage solutions prevent common issues such as water pooling or erosion that could compromise both new structures and surrounding landscapes. This expertise proves particularly valuable when installing patios and other hardscape features that require careful attention to water flow patterns.

The company utilizes premium materials specifically selected for their resistance to Texas weather conditions. Wood pergolas feature high-grade cedar and other weather-resistant lumber, while aluminum options provide virtually maintenance-free solutions. All materials undergo rigorous quality checks to ensure longevity and minimal maintenance requirements for homeowners.

Keathley Landscaping has served North Texas communities for over two decades, establishing a reputation for combining practical solutions with quality craftsmanship. In addition to custom patios and other installation services, the company specializes in landscape design and construction, drainage solutions, fence installation and repair, sod installation, and comprehensive lawn care services. Their team of experienced professionals works closely with residential clients to create outdoor spaces that enhance both property value and quality of life, delivering durable and aesthetically pleasing results that meet the evolving needs of Texas homeowners.
