Midtown Jewelers to Host Spring Bridal Show

March 30, 2026

HERNDON, VA - March 30, 2026 -
Midtown Jewelers will host its Spring Bridal Show on April 18 and 19, 2026. The event will feature engagement rings and wedding bands from several prominent designers. Certified gemologists and bridal specialists will be available to assist attendees at the jewelry store in Herndon, VA.

The two-day event offers couples the opportunity to view collections in a dedicated setting. Designers include Michael M, known for modern fine jewelry with natural diamonds, Sylvie, which specializes in women's wedding rings and engagement rings, and Lashbrook, recognized for alternative metal bands. The show aligns with the spring season, often associated with new beginnings and wedding planning.

Midtown Jewelers has served the Washington, D.C. metropolitan area since 1982. The family-owned boutique first operated in Reston Town Center for over a decade before moving to Historic Herndon. This relocation allowed the company to create a larger space for showcasing its collections and providing personalized services.

The boutique has earned multiple accolades over the years. These include recognition as the Best Jewelry Store by Washingtonian Magazine, the WeddingWire Couples' Choice Award for 10 consecutive years, induction into The Knot Best of Weddings Hall of Fame, and the 2024 Washingtonian Weddings Best Vendor award. These honors reflect the store's consistent standards in product selection and client service.

Bobby Singh, Co-Owner of Midtown Jewelers, commented on the upcoming show. "The Spring Bridal Show provides a focused opportunity for couples to explore a range of engagement rings and wedding bands from different designers in one location," Singh said.

In addition to designer collections, the boutique offers its in-house Lily Rose Collection. These pieces are crafted in a Los Angeles workshop using high-quality diamonds, gemstones, and precious metals. The collection includes engagement rings and wedding bands designed for both timeless appeal and modern preferences.

The Spring Bridal Show continues Midtown Jewelers' tradition of hosting events that support clients in making important jewelry decisions. Attendees can expect guidance on diamond quality, setting styles, and metal options. The presence of specialists helps ensure that selections match individual needs and styles.

Julie Singh, Co-Owner, shared additional thoughts. "Hosting bridal shows allows us to connect with the community and assist couples during a meaningful time in their lives," Singh stated. "It builds on our long-standing commitment to quality and personalized attention."

Midtown Jewelers maintains a comprehensive approach to bridal jewelry. Beyond engagement rings and wedding bands, the boutique provides services such as custom design and heirloom restoration. These capabilities enable clients to create unique pieces or preserve existing family jewelry.

The boutique's inventory includes fashion jewelry for everyday wear in addition to its bridal focus. This diversity allows it to serve clients across various life occasions. The emphasis on craftsmanship and ethical sourcing underpins all offerings.

As a family-owned business, Midtown Jewelers emphasizes relationship building with clients. Many customers return for subsequent purchases or services after initial visits. The boutique's location in Historic Herndon has become a destination for those seeking fine jewelry in the region.

The upcoming Spring Bridal Show occurs at a time when many couples begin planning spring and summer weddings. The event provides a timely resource for those in the early stages of ring selection. Expert staff will be on hand to answer questions and offer insights based on years of experience.

Midtown Jewelers continues to adapt its events and collections to meet the evolving preferences of its clientele. The Spring Bridal Show represents one way the boutique supports the local wedding community. Past events have helped many couples find pieces that symbolize their commitments.

The boutique's history spans more than four decades in the Washington, D.C. area. This longevity has contributed to a deep understanding of client needs in bridal and fine jewelry. Midtown Jewelers remains dedicated to maintaining high standards in every aspect of its operations.
