Phoenix Treasures LLC, a company dedicated to coffee operating out of Cape Coral, FL, is proud to announce that their highly popular Phoenix coffee grinder is now back in stock. The grinder proved to be so popular when first released, that it quickly went out of stock. The company has ensured that the second batch of products is much larger, so no customers will be left disappointed. More details are available at www.phoenixtreasuresllc.com.

Phoenix Treasures LLC's spokesperson Robert King says: "We really want to apologize to our customers for making them wait. We simply hadn't anticipated that the grinder would be this popular. We have now replenished our stocks, so people can once again get their hands on this device."

The grinder, which is also available on Amazon through <http://www.amazon.com/dp/B0106JKUUO>, is designed for coffee, but it is also able to grind nuts, tea, grains, and herbs. It has an easy grip surface, which ensures people can hold it comfortably. Additionally, the device comes with built in cord storage, so no cords have to be left hanging around. The device has one touch pulse action, which allows users to determine the degree of fineness.

Those who have tried the coffee grinder have been overwhelmingly positive about their experiences. "I am new to grinding coffee beans and did not know how easy it was going to be," says Lora on the company website. "This grinder makes grinding beans a simple way to get the great coffee I want without all the fuss and mess. I also tried grinding herbs and some spices but I think I need to learn a little more before I say to much about that. Overall this grinding experience has been great."

The grinder has a 2.5 oz capacity, which allows for eight cups or four mugs of fresh coffee. It has stainless steel blades and a powerful motor, which ensures uniform grinding. As a way to apologize to their customers for having to wait, Phoenix Treasures LLC has added a cleaning brush and they have included rubber feet, which minimize the noise when grinding.
