Central Valley Provider Now Offers Same-Day Delivery on Six Container Sizes With Flexible Rental Periods

April 23, 2026

FRESNO, CA - April 23, 2026 -
Valley Dumpster Service, a locally owned dumpster rental company serving the Central Valley, has announced the launch of a fully online booking platform offering same-day delivery across its service territory. Homeowners, contractors, and businesses can now visit valleydumpsterservice.com to reserve a container, choose from six container sizes, and select rental periods of one, three, or seven days. The company stated that the platform is designed to eliminate phone-tag delays and allow customers to confirm delivery times directly at the point of order.

"We built this business around being responsive ? customers often need a dumpster the same day they call," said Mike Funk, owner of Valley Dumpster Service. "Moving the booking process online means that responsiveness is now available around the clock, not just during business hours." Funk added that the company has grown steadily since opening in December 2023, and that streamlining the reservation process was a priority as its service area expanded across Fresno County and surrounding communities.

The company's current inventory includes 7, 10, 15, 20, and 30-yard containers, as well as a 20-yard pink dumpster available in one, three, and seven-day rental configurations. The 7-yard unit is engineered for dense materials including concrete, rock, dirt, and sod, while the 20 and 30-yard options are sized for whole-home cleanouts, roofing tearoffs, and large-scale construction debris removal. The pink dumpster option, listed separately on the company's website, has drawn interest from customers coordinating charity cleanout events and community projects.

The online booking platform allows customers to select a container size, review available rental periods, and confirm a delivery address without placing a phone call. Valley Dumpster Service noted that same-day delivery is available for orders placed within its standard service windows, and that the system is built to handle both one-time residential orders and recurring commercial accounts. The company indicated that the platform also supports straightforward scheduling for contractors who need to coordinate multiple drop-offs across active job sites.

Residential customers have used Valley Dumpster Service containers for garage and estate cleanouts, landscaping material removal, and home renovation debris, according to the company. Commercial and construction customers, which represent a significant portion of the company's order volume, have relied on the 20 and 30-yard units for demolition waste, framing debris, and roofing material on both short and multi-day timelines. The 15-yard container has been noted by the company as a frequent choice for bathroom and kitchen remodels where debris volume is moderate but not sufficient to justify a full-size roll-off. Customers can review available dumpster rental options and sizes before placing an order.

Valley Dumpster Service operates out of its yard at 2825 East Annadale Avenue in Fresno and holds the licensing necessary to serve residential, commercial, and construction customers across much of Fresno County. The company also serves select communities in Madera County and foothills areas to the northeast of Fresno. According to the company, storm debris cleanup and recycling-focused container options are among the service categories currently in development, with formal announcements expected later in the year.

The Central Valley has seen sustained demand for short-term waste removal services as residential renovation activity and new construction continue across the region. Valley Dumpster Service has indicated that its same-day delivery model and online booking capability are aimed at capturing a growing segment of customers who prefer to manage project logistics without extended lead times or back-and-forth scheduling. The company maintains active social media channels on Facebook, Instagram, and YouTube, and posts service updates and availability notices at valleydumpsterservice.com.
