Otto Tiles and Design Unveils Signature Marble Tile Collection Inspired by Art Deco Innovation

April 23, 2026

MIAMI, FL - April 23, 2026 -
Otto Tiles and Design announces the launch of its Signature Marble Collection, a new line of handcrafted tiles that merges Art Deco-inspired patterns with contemporary design sensibilities. The collection addresses growing demand for premium marble tiles in luxury residential and commercial spaces while reinforcing the company's commitment to artisan craftsmanship and sustainable production methods.

The collection arrives as marble experiences a notable resurgence in luxury design, with architects and developers seeking materials that deliver both visual impact and timeless appeal. Otto Tile has positioned the new line to meet this demand through customizable patterns and versatile applications suitable for hospitality, residential, and commercial projects.

Designed in London under the direction of Creative Director Damla Turgut, the collection features geometric layouts and mixed marble tones that enable architects and designers to create distinctive interior spaces. Each piece combines traditional handcrafting techniques with modern production methods, reflecting a broader industry shift toward design-led materials that balance heritage craftsmanship with contemporary aesthetics.

"The Signature Marble Collection represents our dedication to pushing the boundaries of traditional tile design while honoring time-tested craftsmanship techniques," said a spokesperson for Otto Tiles and Design. "By drawing inspiration from Art Deco's bold geometric forms and combining them with sustainable production practices, we're creating tiles that serve as both functional surfaces and artistic statements in modern interiors. Follow Us for more information."

The collection emphasizes sustainable production techniques and ethical material sourcing, addressing increasing industry focus on environmental responsibility in luxury design. Each tile undergoes a meticulous production process that ensures consistent quality while minimizing environmental impact through responsible quarrying practices and efficient manufacturing processes.

Otto Tiles and Design has established partnerships with leading architects, designers, and developers globally, collaborating on bespoke tile concepts for high-profile projects. The company's Trade Program provides specialized support for businesses requiring large-scale tile solutions, while its comprehensive installation guides and case studies offer technical resources for proper implementation.

The introduction of the Signature Marble Collection reflects broader trends in interior design toward materials that combine natural beauty with innovative fabrication methods. As designers increasingly seek statement pieces that can anchor entire spaces, the collection provides options ranging from subtle textural variations to bold geometric patterns that command attention.

Looking forward, the company anticipates that innovations in marble tile design and sustainable production will continue shaping the future of luxury interiors. The integration of traditional craftsmanship with modern design principles positions the collection to influence how designers approach material selection for distinctive, high-impact spaces.
