

Nova Warranty Announces Expanded Audi Extended Warranty Coverage for All Models

April 09, 2026

WILMINGTON, DE - April 09, 2026 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Nova Warranty, a vehicle service contract provider, announced today the expansion of its coverage options for Audi vehicles to include all 2024 model year variants, addressing increased repair costs affecting luxury vehicle owners after factory warranties expire.

The expanded Nova Warranty Audi Plans now cover all major Audi models, including the A3, A4, A7, A8, Q5, Q8, and R8. The coverage addresses mechanical failures and component breakdowns across critical vehicle systems, including cooling, clutch, electronics, steering, and transmission components.

According to industry data from the National Automobile Dealers Association, luxury vehicle repair costs have increased by 23 percent over the past three years, with Audi-specific repairs averaging $987 per service visit after warranty expiration. The average clutch replacement for an Audi Q8, for example, costs between $2,800 and $3,500 at authorized service centers.

"The expansion of our Audi coverage responds to market demand for post-warranty protection as these vehicles age beyond their factory coverage periods," said a Nova Warranty representative. "With Audi vehicles incorporating increasingly complex electronic systems and turbocharged engines, repair costs have risen substantially, particularly for models like the Q5 and Q8."

The company offers two distinct Audi extended warranty plans. The Nova Powertrain plan covers engine, transmission, drive axle, electrical systems, cooling system, and brakes. The Nova Superior plan adds coverage for turbos and superchargers, all-wheel or four-wheel drive systems, differential assembly, suspension systems, air conditioning and heating, fuel system, anti-lock braking system, and advanced electronics.

Both plans include 24-hour roadside assistance, towing services, rental car reimbursement, and trip interruption coverage. The company employs mechanics trained specifically on Audi vehicles and their repair requirements.

The expansion comes as the extended warranty industry experiences growth driven by increasing vehicle complexity and repair costs. According to the Service Contract Industry Council, the vehicle service contract market has grown by 8 percent annually since 2020, with luxury vehicle coverage representing the fastest-growing segment.

Recent Nova Warranty reviews on third-party platforms indicate the company maintains a 4.8 rating on Trustpilot based on 100 reviews and a 4.0 rating on Consumer Affairs from 17 reviews. The company processes claims through a network of authorized repair facilities nationwide.

Nova Warranty has operated as a direct administrator of vehicle service programs for over 40 years, providing coverage for vehicles from more than 40 manufacturers including BMW, Mercedes-Benz, Porsche, and Lamborghini. The company processes payments through major credit cards, debit cards, and bank transfers.

A vehicle service program differs from a manufacturer's warranty in that it represents a contract between the customer and the VSP provider specifying covered repairs. Nova Warranty administers these programs directly rather than through third-party underwriters.
