April 13, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Frisco, Texas based Elevated Roofing has announced that they have recently obtained Master Elite Certification from GAF. In the industry, only about 3 percent of all roofing contractors have been able to get this certification.

James Baron, a spokesperson for the company says, "In order to receive GAF Master Elite certification, we had to show that we are properly licensed, that we maintain insurance, have a proven reputation for providing quality services, and that we are committed to ongoing professional training."

Baron states that GAF maintains strict standards, which is why only 3 percent of all roofing contractors are qualified to carry the Master Elite certification, the highest honor in the industry. The company says that dealing with a GAF certified contractor means quality, dependability, and an overall reputation for providing satisfactory service.

"GAF also authorizes certified Master Elite contractors to offer enhanced system warranties," Baron says. He states that contractors with this distinction are provided with extensive educational materials that help them to stay up to date with the latest installation techniques as they are developed. Those interested can learn more about Elevated Roofing on their official website.

Baron says that the certification allows the company to offer customers a worry free and hassle free warranty with each roofing installation. Master Elite contractors typically recommend GAF's Weather Stopper roof protection system as well, which features the Good Housekeeping Seal. Home and business owners can learn more about GAF Master Elite Certification by visiting the organization's website.

Elevated Roofing has been providing services to area residents and business owners for a number of years. Baron states that certification by GAF was always a goal for the company, and that they hope their customers will appreciate the effort that they have taken to provide an even higher level of service than they have in the past.
