

Keathley Landscaping Introduces Integrated Drainage and Sod Installation Services for North Texas Properties

April 15, 2026

GARLAND, TX - April 15, 2026 -
Keathley Landscaping has introduced integrated drainage and sod installation services designed to address water management challenges affecting North Texas properties, combining specialized drainage expertise with professional lawn installation to provide comprehensive landscape solutions.

The Dallas-based landscaping company, which has operated in North Texas since 2002, announced the integration of its NDS Certified Drainage Contractor capabilities with expanded sod installation services. This development responds to increasing requests from property owners dealing with water management issues related to the region's clay soil conditions and variable rainfall patterns.

"North Texas properties face specific challenges with clay soil and irregular rainfall that can damage foundations and landscapes," said Logan Keathley, founder and NDS Certified Drainage Contractor at Keathley Landscaping. "The integration of drainage and sod services addresses both water management and lawn establishment as connected systems rather than separate projects."

The company's drainage services include French drain installation, grading techniques, channel drain systems, and custom-designed buried drainage pipelines. These drainage Rockwall installations address flooding, standing water, and erosion issues that can lead to foundation damage. The NDS certification provides technical standards for addressing complex water management problems.

Sod installation services transform properties from bare soil to established lawns within one to three days, depending on property size. The installation process includes vegetation removal, soil preparation, and evaluation for drainage problems or soil deficiencies. The company works with St. Augustine, Zoysia, Bermuda, and Tall Fescue grass varieties selected based on property conditions and sun exposure.

The integrated approach recognizes the relationship between drainage and lawn health. Poor drainage can cause lawn failure, while improper grading during sod installation can create water management problems. By addressing both aspects simultaneously, the company provides coordinated solutions for landscape challenges.

"Water management and lawn installation require coordination to function properly," explained Keathley. "Addressing these elements together ensures proper grading, drainage, and lawn establishment from the start."

The company also provides stonework, retaining walls, landscape lighting, hardscape installations, fence repair and installation, patio covers, outdoor kitchens, and tree services. This range allows property owners to coordinate multiple landscape projects through a single contractor.

Keathley Landscaping serves Dallas, Garland, Wylie, Plano, Rockwall, and surrounding North Texas communities. The company combines traditional landscaping techniques with drainage technology to address the specific challenges of North Texas properties. With over two decades of regional experience, the company has developed methods for managing clay soil conditions and variable rainfall patterns that characterize the area.

The integration of drainage and sod services represents an expansion of the company's approach to landscape management, providing property owners with coordinated solutions for water management and lawn establishment. This development addresses the growing need for comprehensive landscape services that consider the interconnected nature of drainage, grading, and vegetation in maintaining healthy outdoor spaces.
