August 07, 2026

Cambridge, CB - August 07, 2026 -

Access Interiors Ltd, a commercial project management and office fit-out specialist established in 1994, has extended its focus on sustainable office refurbishment across Godmanchester, the historic town in the Huntingdonshire district of Cambridgeshire. The company is placing renewed emphasis on eco-friendly workspace solutions designed to help local businesses meet contemporary environmental standards while modernising their premises.

The expanded focus responds to growing demand from organisations seeking to update ageing office environments in ways that improve efficiency and reduce environmental impact. Access Interiors combines its established expertise in commercial interiors with materials and methods intended to support long-term sustainability goals for businesses operating in the area.

With offices in Cambridge and Ely, the company draws on more than three decades of experience delivering projects that range from minor interior fit-outs to extensive commercial refurbishments. Its services include office design, office space planning, office relocations, office move management, office dilapidations, and commercial interiors project management. The firm also supplies a range of office interior solutions such as suspended ceilings, office furniture, partition systems, commercial flooring installation, mezzanine floors, commercial electrical installation, and commercial air conditioning systems.

The work of Access Interiors - Office Refurbishment Godmanchester reflects the company's understanding of the local area and its history. Projects are planned to enhance office spaces so that they support modern working practices, improve workflow, and accommodate future growth. The company works closely with clients to develop solutions that align with performance specifications and budgets.

Martin Dawson, Director at Access Interiors Ltd, said the emphasis on sustainability reflects wider changes in how businesses approach their workspaces. "Organisations across Cambridgeshire are increasingly considering the environmental impact of their premises alongside the practical requirements of daily operations. The renewed focus in Godmanchester allows the company to bring eco-friendly materials and energy-conscious design into refurbishment projects of every scale."

Dawson added that continuity of business operations remains a central consideration throughout any project. "Careful planning means that refurbishment work can often proceed with minimal disruption to daily activities. Coordinating each stage, from space planning through to installation, ensures that projects are completed on schedule and to the standard clients expect."

The company handles the installation of mezzanine floors for both industrial and office settings, providing a means of creating additional usable space within existing buildings. This capability supports businesses that wish to expand capacity without relocating to larger premises.

Access Interiors reports a high proportion of repeat work, a pattern the company attributes to its approach to service and workmanship. Featured design projects and design articles form part of the way the firm shares its methods and insights with clients considering their own refurbishment plans.
