April 28, 2026

MONETT, MO - April 28, 2026 -
Davis & Son, a leading HVAC and plumbing contractor serving Southwest Missouri for over 40 years, announces the expansion of its comprehensive heating system services to better serve Aurora and surrounding communities as the region prepares for the winter season. The company's enhanced service coverage ensures residents and businesses have access to professional heating system maintenance, repairs, and installations before cold weather arrives.

The expansion comes as Davis and sons Heating Contractor continues to strengthen its presence across Southwest Missouri, including Barry, Lawrence, Christian, Greene, Jasper, Newton, McDonald, and Stone Counties. The company's commitment to providing reliable heating solutions addresses the growing demand for professional HVAC services in smaller communities that have traditionally had limited access to experienced contractors.

"As temperatures begin to drop across Southwest Missouri, we recognize the critical importance of ensuring every home and business has access to reliable heating services," said Kristen, spokesperson for Davis & Son. "Our expansion into Aurora and neighboring communities reflects our dedication to serving the entire region with the same level of expertise and reliability our customers have come to expect over the past four decades."

The company's comprehensive heating services include furnace repair and installation, boiler maintenance, heat pump services, radiant heating solutions, and emergency heating repairs. Additionally, Davis and sons HVAC inspection services help property owners identify potential issues before they become costly problems, ensuring heating systems operate efficiently throughout the winter months.

With energy efficiency becoming increasingly important for both residential and commercial property owners, Davis & Son emphasizes the value of regular professional maintenance. The company recommends annual heating system inspections, preferably conducted in the fall before cold weather arrives. These preventive measures not only extend the lifespan of heating equipment but also improve indoor air quality and reduce energy costs.

The expansion addresses a significant need in the region, where extreme cold weather events can create dangerous conditions for homes and businesses without properly functioning heating systems. Davis & Son maintains emergency response capabilities to ensure rapid assistance when heating failures occur, minimizing discomfort and potential property damage during critical situations.

Beyond traditional heating services, the company offers comprehensive HVAC and plumbing solutions, making it a single source for all mechanical system needs. This integrated approach allows property owners to work with one trusted contractor for installation, maintenance, and repair services across multiple systems.

Davis & Son continues to invest in advanced technologies and ongoing training for its technical staff, ensuring the company remains at the forefront of the HVAC industry. The company's technicians receive regular education on the latest heating system innovations, energy-efficient solutions, and best practices for service delivery.

Founded over four decades ago, Davis & Son has built its reputation on integrity, innovation, and customer satisfaction. The company serves residential, commercial, and industrial clients throughout Southwest Missouri, providing heating, cooling, and plumbing solutions designed to meet the unique needs of each property. As the company continues to grow, it remains committed to delivering superior service and building lasting relationships with customers throughout the region.
