April 24, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Social Solutions, LLC, is one of Arizona's most respected local marketing experts. They have proudly announced that Ryan Cramer, CEO, has been Yext certified and is now a Yext partner in their organization. It is hoped that this will further increase the quality of work they deliver to their existing client database, as well as attract a greater audience of new clients, creating true Partner Solutions.

"I worked very hard at becoming Yext certified," says Ryan Cramer. "I did this because I understand the tremendous impact of offering Yext partner solutions to our clients. In fact, I dare say that a YEXT Partnership is necessary to remain competitive in the online world."

Yext partners are a step above the rest, being able to access the best Business Listings around. This means that a marketing company that uses it, like Social Solutions, is able to save both time and money, which results in a better service for their clients. Those who become Yext certified have been trained to ensure they know how to use listing services and get the most out of this. As such, they enable businesses to make a lot more money.

Additionally, the use of YEXT means that a business listing no longer has to be manually corrected everywhere that it is posted. Rather, the PowerListings Network allows all listing to be corrected simultaneously. This can quite literally save weeks of work, which means the saved time can be better spent doing other things.

"By becoming Yext Certified, I am also able to access various exclusive partner features," adds Ryan Cramer. "This includes the Partner Portal, from where I can manage all of the different Social Solutions clients, including "whitelabeled" email notifications, a "whitelabeled" listings scan and various other important tools."

Yext certification also embodies everything Social Solutions LLC stands for. They prefer to refer to their clients as partners, as they believe working together is the key to success. This is a formula that Yext also employs. Those who deliver the most receive greater discounts and other benefits, which in turn can be sent back to their own customers. Additionally, they provide each member, including Ryan Cramer, with their own dedicated partner manager. This means that anyone who works with Social Solutions will also get to benefit from this. Furthermore, having the seal of approval from Yext is proof to other businesses that the company is able to deliver on their promises with high quality and fantastic results. Finally, becoming Yext certified means that Ryan Cramer is able to use their national marketing campaign and benefit from this.
