Learning Tree Academy Installs New Playground Equipment at Succasunna Location

April 17, 2026

SUCCASUNNA, NJ - April 17, 2026 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Learning Tree Academy has installed new playground equipment at its Succasunna location. The upgrade expands the outdoor play area available to children enrolled in the academy's infant, toddler, preschool, and school-age programs.

The new playground equipment provides additional opportunities for active and imaginative play. Children can now engage in climbing, sliding, balancing, and cooperative games that build gross motor skills, coordination, balance, and physical confidence. The fully fenced outdoor space ensures a secure environment where staff maintain close supervision during all play sessions. Outdoor time is scheduled daily when weather conditions allow, with indoor alternatives available as needed.

Outdoor play holds significant value in early childhood development. Regular time spent outside supports better physical health, including stronger muscles, improved cardiovascular fitness, and a lower risk of obesity. It also contributes to mental and emotional well-being by reducing stress and promoting happier moods. Children who play outdoors regularly often show gains in cognitive skills, attention span, and problem-solving abilities.

Social development benefits as well through opportunities to negotiate rules, share equipment, form friendships, and practice cooperation in a natural setting. Many experts note that outdoor experiences help children develop creativity, resilience, and a positive connection to the environment.

This recent investment in playground facilities aligns with the academy's commitment to supporting the whole child. The enhanced outdoor area complements indoor activities by offering space for energetic movement that may not be possible inside. Children gain the chance to test their limits safely, explore freely, and recharge through fresh air and natural light. Such experiences contribute to overall school readiness and long-term healthy habits.

Nataliya Malinovsky, the Owner of Learning Tree Academy, said, "The new playground equipment allows children to be more active and creative in their outdoor play while remaining in a safe and supervised environment."

The playground integrates with the academy's broader approach to daily programming. Activities encourage social-emotional growth through group interactions, cognitive development through exploration and discovery, and language skills through conversations during play. Teachers observe and support children individually, helping each one progress at an appropriate pace. Small class sizes facilitate personalized attention throughout the day.

The academy serves families from Succasunna, Roxbury Township, Kenvil, Rockaway, Mine Hill, Mt. Arlington, Randolph, Ledgewood, Denville, Netcong, Mt. Olive Township, Flanders, Wharton, Parsippany, and Dover. It offers before and after-school care for students attending Roxbury Township elementary schools, with bus transportation provided by the district. The academy also partners with the Wharton School District on its universal preschool program.

Malinovsky continued, "Providing quality outdoor play spaces is an important part of creating a well-rounded early learning experience for the children in our care."

Enrollment remains open on a rolling basis, subject to availability. Families supply meals and snacks that follow the academy's nutrition and allergy guidelines. A 10 percent sibling discount applies for families with multiple children enrolled.

Learning Tree Academy creates a safe and nurturing environment that functions as a home away from home. Children explore their curiosities in a supportive setting while building social skills, confidence, and a love of learning. Teachers and staff engage in ongoing professional development to stay aligned with best practices in early childhood education. The academy maintains collaborative partnerships with local school districts to help ensure smooth transitions as children advance.
