

Pannello Home Interiors Expands Premium Cabinets and Design Services Across Washington DC Metro Area

May 21, 2026

WASHINGTON, DC - May 21, 2026 -
Pannello Home Interiors, a specialized custom cabinetry and interior design studio, announces expanded service offerings throughout the Washington DC metropolitan region, bringing European-engineered cabinetry solutions and designer-led interior transformations to homeowners and design professionals across the capital area.

The company, which operates from its Wisconsin Avenue showroom, has enhanced its portfolio of custom interior solutions to meet growing demand for personalized home design in Georgetown, Bethesda, Chevy Chase, Arlington, Alexandria, Silver Spring, McLean, Tysons, and surrounding neighborhoods. The expansion encompasses comprehensive cabinetry services, custom closets, architectural wall panels, designer wallpaper installations, and premium countertop solutions.

"The Washington DC market has shown tremendous appreciation for craftsmanship that combines Italian design heritage with modern functionality," said Ersin Oz, Owner and Principal of Pannello Home Interiors. "Our approach goes beyond standard cabinetry installation. We create architectural furniture pieces that transform living spaces while maintaining the structural integrity and precision fit that discerning homeowners expect."

The company distinguishes itself through a designer-led process that delivers custom solutions in three to five weeks, significantly faster than the industry standard of eight to twelve weeks. This accelerated timeline, combined with in-house installation teams and European engineering standards, addresses a critical need in the Washington DC real estate market where renovation timelines often impact property transactions and move-in schedules.

Pannello Home Interiors specializes in creating custom kitchen cabinets tailored to exact layouts and lifestyle requirements. The studio also designs bathroom vanities ranging from powder room installations to primary suite transformations. Their custom closets integrate organizational systems with aesthetic design, while architectural wall panels and millwork add dimensional interest to interior spaces.

The company's portfolio includes slat wall panels, acoustic wall treatments, and carefully sourced European wallpapers. Each project incorporates professional 3D visualization technology, allowing clients to preview their spaces before construction begins. This technological integration has become particularly valuable for interior designers and architects collaborating on high-end residential projects throughout the capital region.

"We recognize that Cabinets Washington DC homeowners seek reflects both personal style and long-term value," added Oz. "Our Italian heritage, reflected in our name Pannello which means 'panel' in Italian, influences our commitment to combining traditional craftsmanship with contemporary design solutions."

The studio works extensively with interior designers, architects, and luxury builders, providing specialized support for professional projects. This collaborative approach ensures seamless integration between custom cabinetry, existing architectural elements, and overall design vision.

Pannello Home Interiors maintains a comprehensive showroom featuring various cabinet styles, from modern frameless designs to traditional inset door configurations. The facility serves as a resource center where homeowners and design professionals can explore material options, finishes, and hardware selections while consulting with design specialists.

The company offers quartz and porcelain countertop fabrication and installation services, coordinating these elements with cabinetry projects to ensure cohesive design execution. Their service radius extends thirty miles from their DC showroom, encompassing the broader metropolitan area's diverse architectural styles and design preferences.
