April 27, 2026 -

NextGen Dumpster Rental has announced the expansion of its same-day delivery service to Port Jervis, New York, and surrounding Sullivan County communities, including Liberty and Bethel. The expansion addresses growing demand for rapid waste management solutions in the region's residential and commercial sectors.

The service expansion enables contractors, homeowners, and businesses throughout the area to receive dumpster deliveries within hours of placing an order, eliminating the traditional waiting periods that can delay construction projects and property cleanouts. The company has increased its fleet capacity and adjusted routing logistics to accommodate the expanded coverage area while maintaining its commitment to same-day fulfillment.

"The expansion into Port Jervis and Sullivan County represents a strategic response to customer feedback and market demand," said Matt Sallusto, Operations Director at NextGen Dumpster Rental. "Construction timelines and renovation projects often face unexpected changes, and having immediate access to waste management solutions can make the difference between staying on schedule or facing costly delays."

The enhanced service area now encompasses multiple townships and municipalities throughout Sullivan County, providing coverage for both urban and rural properties. The expansion includes various dumpster sizes ranging from 10-yard containers suitable for small residential cleanouts to 40-yard units designed for major construction and demolition projects.

Local construction companies and property management firms have expressed interest in the expedited service option, particularly for emergency situations and time-sensitive projects. The same-day delivery guarantee applies to orders placed before noon, with afternoon orders typically fulfilled the following business day.

The timing of the expansion aligns with increased construction activity in the region, as both residential renovations and commercial developments continue to grow throughout Sullivan County. Local building permit data indicates a steady rise in construction projects over the past eighteen months, creating sustained demand for reliable waste management services.

NextGen Dumpster Rental has implemented digital ordering systems to streamline the rental process and ensure efficient scheduling across the expanded service territory. Customers can specify delivery windows, project durations, and pickup schedules through the company's booking platform, which automatically assigns resources based on location and availability.

The company maintains compliance with all local waste disposal regulations and works with certified disposal facilities to ensure proper handling of construction debris, household waste, and recyclable materials. Each rental includes clear guidelines on acceptable materials and weight limits to help customers avoid additional fees and environmental violations.

NextGen Dumpster Rental specializes in providing temporary waste management solutions for construction sites, home renovations, estate cleanouts, and commercial projects. The company operates throughout the Hudson Valley region with a focus on reliable service, transparent pricing, and flexible rental terms designed to accommodate projects of all sizes and durations.
