Local Position Marketing, a business in Anderson, IN, has released their review of a new SEO analysis tool. With recent reports highlighting the different SEO trends that will be of importance throughout 2016, the analysis tool is an invaluable resource for site builders and SEO experts alike. The tool has already been very positively reviewed. Full details are available on <http://www.dirsubmission.net/seo-tools/website-ranking-analysis/>.

Josh Kindlesparker from Local Position Marketing says: "Once upon a time, SEO was all about keywords. Now, however, there are far more things that have to be included in it. So many, in fact, that it is hard to keep track. Our SEO analysis tool highlights what is working, and what isn't working, so that site builders can stay on track. We're happy to see that it is already benefiting so many people."

The company has highlighted the main 7 SEO trends to be aware of this year. These are social content focus, video marketing, mobile optimization, voice search functions, improved content aggregation, more mobile apps, and local SEO. The tool has been used by a large number of SEO experts, and they have all been very positive about the benefits they have experienced from it.

A full review of the service has recently been posted on YouTube, <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=PIXVkJZMUPNY>. The review highlights the site management and rank tracking options that the service offers. It highlights the various elements of both the site manager and the rank tracker. It also highlights the tremendous value for money that the program offers.

"SEO trends are constantly changing," adds Josh Kindlesparker. "This is why the new system is so beneficial, because it enables people to stay up to date with every development within the world of SEO. While the main focus right now is on the seven biggest trends, the system can be customized to suit the needs of the individual."

People are encouraged to take a look at the SEO analysis tool, as well as the YouTube review by Mike Simms. It highlights exactly what the system can do, and what it has to offer. The review in particular demonstrates the system at work.
