

Rockwall Electric Heating and Air Expands Professional Electrician Services to Meet Growing Demand

April 29, 2026

ROYSE CITY, TX - April 29, 2026 -
Rockwall Electric Heating and Air, a family-owned electrical and HVAC company serving North Texas since 1994, announces expanded professional electrician services across its service territories to address increasing demand for reliable home electrical solutions. The expansion responds to heightened requests for electrical system upgrades, generator installations, and energy-efficient lighting conversions throughout Rockwall, Collin, Dallas, Hunt, and Kaufman counties.

The company has enhanced its electrical service capabilities to include comprehensive troubleshooting, panel upgrades, surge protection installations, and specialized electrical work for residential pools. The expansion also encompasses increased availability for Briggs and Stratton and Generac generator installations, addressing growing concerns about power reliability in North Texas communities.

"The demand for professional electrical services has grown significantly as homeowners recognize the importance of proper electrical maintenance and safety," said Chris, spokesperson of Rockwall Electric

Heating and Air. "Many homes in our service area still have outdated electrical panels and wiring that need attention. Our expanded services ensure residents have access to licensed, insured professionals who can address these critical safety concerns while improving their homes' electrical efficiency."

The company's electrical services portfolio includes troubleshooting and repair, electrical panel upgrades and replacements, surge protection systems, LED lighting conversions, proper grounding and bonding, generator installations and maintenance, and specialized electrical installations for pools and outdoor living spaces. Each service is performed by licensed electricians with over 20 years of industry experience.

Rockwall Electric Heating and Air in Garland maintains comprehensive annual maintenance plans for both electrical systems and generators, helping homeowners prevent unexpected failures and extend equipment life. The company also provides important safety information to customers, including alerts about electrical panel recalls that may affect their homes.

Beyond electrical services, the company continues to offer complete HVAC solutions, including air conditioning repair, heating system repair, and preventive maintenance programs. This dual expertise allows the company to address the full spectrum of home comfort and safety needs.

The expansion comes as North Texas experiences continued residential growth and aging electrical infrastructure requires modernization. Many homes built before 2000 require electrical system updates to meet current safety codes and support modern electrical demands from home offices, electric vehicle charging, and smart home technologies.

Rockwall Electric Heating and Air operates as a licensed and insured electrical and HVAC contractor throughout North Texas. Since its founding in 1994, the company has built its reputation on reliable service, honest communication, and technical expertise. The company offers financing options to help homeowners manage the cost of necessary electrical upgrades and maintains a commitment to customer education about electrical safety and energy efficiency. The business serves residential customers throughout Rockwall County, Kaufman County, Hunt County, Collin County, and Dallas County.

###

For more information about Rockwall Electric Heating and Air, contact the company here:Rockwall Electric Heating and AirChris(972) 771-5390office@rockwallelectric.comRockwall Electric Heating and Air6107 I-30 Frontage RdRoyse City, TX 75189, United States

Rockwall Electric Heating and Air

Our family-run Electrical and HVAC business serves Rockwall, TX, and neighboring areas. We?re committed to delivering top-notch quality and service, ensuring that every job is done right.

Website: https://www.rockwallelectricheatingandair.com/

Email: office@rockwallelectric.com

Phone: (972) 771-5390

Rockwall Electric
Heating and Air