

JJRM Flooring Ltd Expands Residential and Commercial Flooring Services Across Eltham and Woolwich

September 25, 2026

LONDON, UK - September 25, 2026 -

JJRM Flooring Ltd has expanded its range of residential and commercial flooring services across South East London, extending coverage to homes and businesses throughout Eltham, Woolwich, and surrounding neighbourhoods. The expansion reflects growing demand for installation, maintenance, and repair services in the area and builds on more than two decades of experience in the flooring trade.

The company provides a comprehensive selection of flooring options, including Luxury Vinyl Tile, engineered and solid wood, laminate, carpet, and commercial safety flooring. Alongside new installations, JJRM Flooring offers wooden floor restoration, carpet whipping and binding, and floor repair services for both domestic and commercial spaces. The firm works with established brands such as Amtico, Karndean, Kährs, and Westex Carpets.

As part of the service expansion, the company continues to operate a mobile showroom and a next-day delivery option, allowing customers to view samples and materials at their own properties. This approach supports the consultation and proposal service, through which clients receive professional advice, product recommendations, and a quote before work begins.

"The decision to broaden coverage across the region comes in direct response to the volume of enquiries received from homeowners and businesses," said Riedwan Khan, Director at JJRM Flooring Ltd. "After more than twenty years in the industry, the priority remains delivering consistent quality across every project, whether that involves fitting luxury vinyl in a family home or installing anti-slip safety flooring in a commercial environment."

The expanded coverage now serves a wide catchment across Woolwich, including Charlton, Westcombe Park, New Charlton, and Shooters Hill. The company's residential and commercial teams handle projects ranging from single rooms to larger fit-outs, with each installation supported by guidance on subfloor requirements and long-term maintenance.

Commercial safety flooring forms a significant part of the company's work, with a focus on anti-slip surfaces designed for busy environments. For residential clients, the emphasis is on matching flooring types to the practical and aesthetic needs of each property. Services offered by JJRM Flooring - Eltham - Flooring Woolwich cover the full process from initial consultation through to fitting and aftercare.

"Flooring is a long-term investment, and the aim is to make the process straightforward for every client," Khan added. "The mobile showroom means people can see materials in the setting where they will actually be installed, which helps them make informed decisions about the finish that suits their space."

The company holds relevant accreditations and approvals, and its work has been recognised through more than one hundred five-star reviews from customers across the region. Restoration services, including sanding, polishing, and lacquering of real wooden and engineered floors, complement the installation offering and allow existing floors to be returned to their original condition.

JJRM Flooring Ltd is a professional floor fitting company based in Woolwich, South East London, serving both domestic and commercial clients. With over twenty years of expertise, the company provides installation, restoration, and repair services across a range of flooring types, working with leading manufacturers to supply materials for homes and businesses throughout the local area.
