Crane Rental Service Company To Receive Safety Award

May 02, 2016

May 02, 2016 -
Essex Crane Rental Corp., located in Houston, TX, has announced that they are being presented the Specialized Carriers & Rigging Association (SC&RA) safety award for their work on the Agrium project in Borger, TX with partner KBR also out of Houston, TX. Both Essex and KBR are being given the award for work done in 2015.

Troy Jordan, Vice President and General Manager of Essex Crane?s Gulf region, states, "We are honored to receive this award, which shows how dedicated we are to overall safety in every project we undertake." Those interested in learning more about the company's recent award or their wide range of projects can contact them for more information.

The SC&RA is an international trade association that currently has over 1,300 members who originate from more than 46 nations around the world. Members include those from machinery moving and erecting companies as well as crane and rigging operations, specialized transportation, and other related fields. The Crane Rental Service Safety Award offered by the organization can be achieved for two separate categories, and each category requires a specific number of hours to be performed. The Maintenance Work category is awarded to companies that achieve 1,500 hours of ongoing maintenance work on one single project location. The Single Project category is given to companies that perform 1,500 hours of work during the length of a single project, and for one single client.

"We're proud of our entire team for the effort on not only this, but all of the projects we undertake," Jordan states. Members receive the award and present it to their clients to signify the mutual commitment that they both share for safety. Applications for the award are accepted and awarded to companies on a monthly basis.
