

Wilkins RV Announces Expanded Churchville Facilities to Support Used RV Owners

May 04, 2026

CHURCHVILLE, NY - May 04, 2026 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Wilkins RV has expanded its Churchville dealership to strengthen support for used RV owners in the region. The facility, which opened in 2011 as the company's second location, has grown to 40,000 square feet and now serves as a key resource for pre-owned recreational vehicles and maintenance services.

The expanded Churchville location features more than 200 new and used RVs, 16 dedicated service bays, a 12,000-square-foot indoor showroom, over 2,000 square feet of parts and accessories inventory, and six campground-style hookups. These additions enable thorough inspection, reconditioning, and preparation of a wide range of pre-owned models, including travel trailers, fifth wheels, toy haulers, Class A motorhomes, Class C motorhomes, destination trailers, and folding pop-up campers. The indoor showroom allows year-round access protected from weather, while the service bays and hookups facilitate realistic testing of systems before vehicles reach buyers.

Service operations cover routine and specialized maintenance on used recreational vehicles. Certified technicians handle seasonal winterization and de-winterization, annual safety inspections, 45-point checks, and repairs to electrical, plumbing, appliance, roof, air conditioning, furnace, generator, and wheel bearing systems. Same-day service remains available for urgent needs when parts are in stock, with priority given to safety-related items. A complimentary courtesy inspection assesses tires, batteries, awnings, and other essential components on pre-owned units.

The parts department maintains an inventory of common replacement components and accessories, which helps minimize downtime for owners. This setup supports the full ownership cycle at one site, from selection of a pre-owned model to ongoing maintenance.

General Manager Robert Moss said, "The Churchville location maintains a large selection of pre-owned inventory and provides warranty coverage on most used units. Technicians complete a detailed checklist to document all reconditioning work, allowing owners to understand the condition of their vehicle before purchase."

Wilkins RV draws from its broader network when specific models are not available locally. The interconnected system across six sites supplies additional pre-owned inventory while keeping service operations centered at the Churchville RV dealership. The dealership represents major manufacturers, including Grand Design, Jayco, Alliance RV, Heartland RV, Forest River, Newmar, Gulf Stream, and Coachmen. This consistency ensures technicians maintain familiarity with specific makes and floor plans for both sales and service.

As the 2026 camping season begins, the Churchville service team focuses on system checks, preventative maintenance, and repairs to prepare used RVs. These efforts help extend vehicle service life and support safe, comfortable use by families and individuals. The location's capacity addresses the higher maintenance needs often associated with pre-owned units.

Founded in 1936 as C Wilkins Used Cars in Hornell, New York, the business entered the recreational vehicle market in the 1950s. Ron Wilkins led the transition in the early 1960s, renaming the operation Wilkins RV and adding brands such as Coachmen, Shasta, and Mallard. Brian Wilkins assumed ownership in 2004. The 2011 opening of the Churchville site marked the first major expansion beyond the original Bath location, followed by the facility's growth to its current scale.

The company operates six locations across western and central New York, including sites in Bath, Brewerton, Waterloo, Nichols, and Fulton. The Churchville dealership combines a large indoor showroom, extensive service bays, and parts inventory to meet the practical needs of used RV owners through an integrated approach. This model allows customers to view, purchase, and service pre-owned vehicles at the same location.
