

Ascend Family Chiropractic Highlights Chiropractic Care for Car Accident Injuries in Pierce County, WA

May 11, 2026

GRAHAM, WA - May 11, 2026 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Ascend Family Chiropractic highlights chiropractic care for car accident injuries in Pierce County, WA as a supportive option for individuals recovering from motor vehicle collisions. The Graham-based clinic provides calm, personalized evaluations and treatments tailored to the often-hidden effects of accidents, helping patients address pain, restore function, and work toward full recovery through natural, non-invasive methods.

Even minor collisions can create unexpected stress on the spine, muscles, and nervous system. At Ascend Family Chiropractic, care begins with a thorough assessment to identify issues that may not appear immediately, such as spinal misalignments, nerve irritation, or soft tissue damage. Digital X-rays, posture analysis, and detailed physical examinations help pinpoint underlying problems, allowing for targeted interventions before symptoms become chronic.

Common injuries treated include whiplash, which often causes neck stiffness, headaches, and dizziness following the sudden jolt of impact. Spinal misalignments from trauma can lead to nerve compression, reduced mobility, and radiating pain. Back pain frequently results from seatbelt pressure or impact forces, while nerve compression may produce numbness or tingling in the extremities. The clinic customizes plans to each patient's specific presentation rather than applying standardized protocols.

Chiropractic adjustments form the foundation of care for car accident injuries. Gentle realignments reduce nerve pressure, improve joint function, and support the body's natural healing processes. These adjustments help alleviate pain, correct posture, and enhance overall mobility. Complementary elements, such as corrective exercises, strengthen supporting muscles, improve flexibility, and restore stability. Posture guidance addresses daily habits and ergonomics to prevent recurring strain on the thoracic spine and other areas.

Dr. Chaz Curtis, DC, Founder of Ascend Family Chiropractic, stated, "Experiences with personal injuries and recovery demonstrated how chiropractic care can restore balance and resilience after trauma. The same principles apply to those recovering from car accidents, where timely, thoughtful adjustments make a meaningful difference in comfort and long-term function."

Research supports the use of chiropractic care following motor vehicle accidents. A study published in the Journal of Manipulative and Physiological Therapeutics and related reviews indicate that spinal manipulation can reduce pain intensity and improve function in patients with whiplash-associated disorders. Additional investigations show that early intervention helps prevent chronic issues, with many patients reporting significant relief and better mobility compared to those delaying care. Outcomes improve when treatment addresses both immediate symptoms and underlying structural concerns.

The first visit at Ascend Family Chiropractic includes a detailed consultation covering the accident circumstances, current symptoms, and health history. If appropriate, imaging clarifies spinal alignment, followed by a clear explanation of findings and a proposed plan. Every step prioritizes patient understanding and comfort, aligning with the clinic's commitment to unrushed, relational care.

Post-accident recovery extends beyond initial pain relief. Ongoing adjustments and exercises help restore range of motion, reduce inflammation naturally, and support nervous system performance. This holistic approach aims to minimize the risk of long-term complications, such as persistent stiffness or compensatory issues in other body areas. Patients receive guidance on lifestyle factors that influence healing, empowering them to participate actively in their progress.

Dr. Chaz Curtis, DC, added, "Car accidents disrupt normal body mechanics in ways that may not resolve without proper alignment and support. Our role is to listen carefully, provide clear information, and deliver care that helps individuals return to daily activities with greater confidence and less discomfort."

The clinic's team ensures consistent, compassionate support throughout the recovery process. Office managers Marilyn Curtis and Caitlyn oversee operations, while Evelyn, as X-Ray Technician and Chiropractic Assistant, assists with diagnostics and preparation. Assistants Tina and Jacey contribute to smooth patient experiences, maintaining a welcoming environment for those navigating post-accident challenges.

Ascend Family Chiropractic integrates car accident care within its broader family-centered services. The practice addresses related conditions, including back pain, neck discomfort, headaches, sciatica, and sports injuries, using evidence-informed techniques. Wellness-oriented maintenance visits help sustain improvements in posture, energy, and immune function once acute recovery advances.

Located in Graham, Washington, the clinic serves residents throughout Pierce County who seek natural solutions after collisions. Its philosophy emphasizes integrity in recommendations, thoughtful delivery of care, compassion in patient interactions, empowerment through education, and strong community ties. This framework creates a supportive setting where individuals feel respected and informed at every stage.

Ascend Family Chiropractic continues to treat injuries caused by local traffic accidents. By focusing on spinal health and nervous system balance, the approach helps mitigate escalating problems and promotes sustained recovery. Plans remain adaptive, adjusting to each patient's progress and feedback.

The clinic's origins trace to Dr. Curtis's teenage encounters with injuries, head trauma, and migraines. Chiropractic provided improvements in pain management, body function, recovery speed, and stress handling. This foundation informs the practice's dedication to helping others achieve similar gains through personalized, calm care.

Ascend Family Chiropractic operates as a family-centered practice in Graham, Washington. The clinic specializes in chiropractic services supporting pain relief, injury recovery, and wellness for individuals and families across life stages. Through individualized treatments in a thoughtful environment, the practice contributes to better movement, comfort, and quality of life for the Pierce County community.
