QUINCY, MA - May 13, 2026 -
Quincy-based contractor expands kitchen remodel and renovation services across 27 Massachusetts communities

South Shore Home Remodel, a licensed home remodeling contractor headquartered in Quincy, Massachusetts, announced that it has completed over a decade of residential renovation work across the South Shore region. The company, which employs a team of interior designers, engineers, architects, and licensed contractors, now serves more than 27 communities spanning from Boston to Plymouth. South Shore Home Remodel offers services that include kitchen and bathroom renovation, basement finishing, second-story additions, garage conversions, and new construction.

Over the past ten years, the company has completed hundreds of home remodeling projects for homeowners throughout the South Shore area. The firm was recognized with the 2024 Quality Business Award for its work in residential renovations. South Shore Home Remodel?s service portfolio covers full-scope renovation work, including kitchen remodel projects, bathroom renovation, in-law suites, guest bedrooms, bonus rooms, home additions, and disaster restoration for fire, wind, and water damage. All employees hold current licenses and carry liability insurance, meeting the requirements set by the Massachusetts state and municipal authorities.

The demand for residential renovation services in Massachusetts has grown steadily in recent years as homeowners choose to invest in their existing properties rather than enter a competitive housing market. According to the Joint Center for Housing Studies of Harvard University, annual spending on home improvements and repairs across the United States surpassed $600 billion in 2025. South Shore Home Remodel has responded to this regional demand by maintaining a full-service team that handles projects from initial design through final inspection, reducing the need for homeowners to coordinate multiple subcontractors.

?We started this company because we understood, as homeowners ourselves, what it takes to trust someone with their home,? said Bob Dougherty, Owner of South Shore Home Remodel. ?Reaching ten years in business reflects the relationships we have built with families across the South Shore. Every project, whether it is a single bathroom renovation or a full second-story addition, receives the same level of planning, communication, and craftsmanship.?

Each home remodeling engagement begins with a complimentary on-site estimate, during which the team assesses the scope of work and discusses the homeowner's goals, timeline, and budget. South Shore Home Remodel then develops a detailed project plan that includes material specifications, permit requirements, and a phased construction schedule. The company assigns a dedicated project lead to every job, ensuring that homeowners have a single point of contact from demolition through the final walkthrough. This structured approach has allowed the firm to maintain what it describes as consistently brief turnaround times without compromising the quality of finished work.

The company operates from its office in Quincy and maintains standard business hours Monday through Friday from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. and Saturday from 8:00 a.m. to 12:00 p.m. South Shore Home Remodel provides free estimates and works with each client from the initial design consultation through final completion. The team?s approach includes formal contracts, open communication throughout the project timeline, and adherence to all local building codes. Communities served include Braintree, Hingham, Cohasset, Scituate, Marshfield, Duxbury, Plymouth, Brockton, Bridgewater, and Milton, among others.

"Our clients often tell us that what sets the experience apart is the communication," said Bob Dougherty, Owner at South Shore Home Remodel. "A kitchen remodel or a basement finish is a significant investment, and homeowners deserve to know exactly where their project stands at every stage. We build that transparency into every contract and every conversation."
