

AT4 Fence Launches Residential Fencing and Custom Exteriors

May 14, 2026

AUSTIN, TX - May 14, 2026 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

AT4 Fence & Custom Exteriors, an owner-operated fencing contractor with seven years in business and more than 759 completed fence installations, has announced a full range of residential fencing, deck, and pergola services for homeowners across the greater Austin area.

Alex Vasquez founded the company in 2019 after leaving a subcontracting role where he saw homeowners charged for premium materials they never received. Vasquez, who previously managed more than 400 customer accounts in the home services industry, started AT4 Fence so that homeowners would know exactly what materials were going into their fence and why. The company has since grown to 759 completed fence projects while maintaining a 5.0-star rating across 111 Google reviews.

AT4 Fence offers wood privacy fencing in both Western Red Cedar and Imported Red Cedar, giving homeowners a direct comparison between the two rather than defaulting to whichever option carries a higher margin. Western Red Cedar, harvested from the Pacific Northwest, carries natural oils that resist moisture and insects ? properties it holds for decades when properly finished. Imported Red Cedar costs less upfront but does not carry the same oil content or density, and its performance over time reflects that difference.

Most contractors present one option without explaining the tradeoff. Vasquez presents both and lets the homeowner decide.

The company also installs pipe fencing, aluminum fencing, chain link, vinyl, and wrought iron, along with gates, automatic gate systems, and gate repair. Every privacy fence is built with metal posts set in concrete footings, a construction method that resists the wind loads and shifting soils common in central Texas, and secured with stainless steel fasteners designed to resist rust in outdoor exposure rather than corrode within a few seasons. Vasquez and the same installation crew have worked together since before the company was formally established as an LLC in 2023, a continuity that keeps material knowledge and installation standards consistent from project to project.

AT4 Fence builds decks and pergolas in addition to its fence work, offering outdoor living structures with the same material transparency applied to fence projects. Each deck project begins with an on-site assessment of the property's load requirements, drainage, and existing structures before materials are specified. Pergola construction options include both traditional wood builds and aluminum-framed structures suited to the sun exposure and temperature swings common in central Texas.

Every project starts with a free on-site estimate where Vasquez or a crew member walks the property, identifies grade changes, overhead obstacles, and utility considerations, and explains material options before any work is quoted. No material change is made after the estimate without the homeowner's explicit approval ? a policy Vasquez established in direct response to the substitution practices he observed subcontracting.

"I started this company because I wanted homeowners to get what they actually paid for, and I wanted to be the one standing behind that promise," said Alex Vasquez, Owner of AT4 Fence & Custom Exteriors. "We walk every customer through the differences between cedar types, post construction, and rail configurations so they can make a decision that fits their property and their budget. That is how we do things."

AT4 Fence backs all installations with a two-year workmanship warranty covering defects in labor and construction, with exclusions limited to storm damage and natural disasters. The company holds an A rating with the Better Business Bureau and is verified on HomeAdvisor, Nextdoor, Yelp, and BuildZoom.
