June 03, 2026

MONETT, MO - June 03, 2026 -

Monett Veterinary Hospital, a full-service animal care facility serving southwestern Missouri since 1953, emphasizes the critical importance of having access to reliable emergency veterinary services as the region experiences increased pet health incidents during winter months. The AAHA-accredited hospital provides comprehensive emergency and routine care for pets throughout the Monett and Aurora areas.

The facility, which has evolved from a single-veterinarian practice to a comprehensive animal care center, maintains emergency protocols and partnerships to ensure pets receive immediate attention when urgent situations arise. Monett Vet Emergency Pet And Animal Care services include treatment for trauma, sudden illness, poisoning, and other life-threatening conditions that require immediate veterinary intervention.

"Pet emergencies can occur at any time, and having established relationships with veterinary professionals before a crisis happens can make a significant difference in outcomes," said Erin Carnes, veterinary care coordinator at Monett Veterinary Hospital. "We encourage pet owners in Aurora and surrounding communities to familiarize themselves with emergency care options and understand the signs that indicate their pet needs immediate attention."

The hospital's emergency preparedness extends beyond immediate crisis response. The facility offers comprehensive preventive care programs designed to minimize emergency situations through regular health monitoring, vaccinations, and early disease detection. These services complement the emergency care protocols, creating a complete healthcare system for area pets.

Monett Veterinary Clinic provides both routine and specialized services including orthopedic surgery, laser surgery, radiowave surgery, radiology, and internal medicine diagnostics. The facility features an in-house laboratory for rapid diagnostic testing, which proves especially valuable during emergency situations when time-sensitive decisions must be made.

The hospital's commitment to excellence in veterinary care earned it the AAHA Commitment to Excellence Award in 2007 and recognition as a Veterinary Economics Architectural Award Excellence winner. These achievements reflect decades of dedication to advancing veterinary medicine and improving pet health outcomes in southwestern Missouri.

Beyond emergency and medical services, the facility offers boarding, grooming, and doggie daycare services, providing comprehensive care solutions for pet owners. The hospital's TLC Wellness Care Program delivers customized preventive care plans that include routine testing, examinations, and vaccinations designed to maintain optimal pet health.

For after-hours emergencies, the hospital maintains partnerships with specialized emergency centers, including the Animal Emergency and Specialty Center of Northwest Arkansas, ensuring continuous care availability for critical cases.

Monett Veterinary Hospital continues to serve as a cornerstone of veterinary care in southwestern Missouri, combining traditional veterinary medicine with advanced technologies and treatment methods. The facility's evolution from its founding by Dr. C.J. McCormick in 1953 to its current status as a comprehensive animal care center demonstrates its ongoing commitment to meeting the changing needs of pets and their families in Monett, Aurora, Pierce City, Purdy, Cassville, Mt Vernon, and surrounding communities.
