Health Express Opens New Location in Hanover, MA for Urgent Care Services

May 18, 2026

RAYNHAM, MA - May 18, 2026 -
A new urgent care facility is now open in Hanover, Massachusetts, giving South Shore residents a closer, faster option for handling medical needs that don't require a trip to the emergency room. Health Express, located at 1207 Washington Street, Unit 70, brings board-certified providers with a combined 100-plus years of emergency room experience directly into the community, with no appointment, no referral, and no long wait.

The facility is staffed by clinicians who have spent their careers in emergency medicine and have been active members of the southeastern Massachusetts community for more than three decades. That background shapes how the clinic operates.

Most patients are seen and discharged within 60 minutes, a pace that reflects the team's familiarity with moving efficiently without cutting corners on care. For anyone who has sat in an emergency waiting room for hours with a sprained ankle or a sinus infection, that turnaround time carries real weight.

Walk-in access is available seven days a week. Health Express in Hanover, MA, accepts most major insurance plans, including Medicare, and does not require a referral from a primary care physician to be seen. On-site diagnostic capabilities include X-ray, laboratory testing, and EKG ? resources that allow providers to assess and treat a broad range of conditions without sending patients to a separate facility.

Health Express covers the kind of ailments and injuries that tend to strike without warning: tick, insect, and animal bites; sprains and fractures; ear infections; eye complaints; urinary tract infections; lacerations and wound care; rashes and poison ivy; sinus infections; and fever and body aches, among many others. Illness care includes testing and treatment for strep throat, flu, mono, and COVID-19. STD testing, seasonal allergy care, and flu shots are also available.

Beyond standard urgent care, the facility offers a full range of occupational health services. DOT physicals, required for commercial drivers under Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration regulations, are available on-site.

Employment physicals, TB testing, sports physicals, and camp physicals round out the occupational and preventive health offerings. These services are particularly relevant for workers, employers, and young athletes in the region who need documentation-based evaluations that primary care offices sometimes struggle to schedule quickly.

Health Express in Hanover, MA, is part of a broader shift in how many Americans access routine and semi-urgent medical care. Emergency departments remain critically important for life-threatening situations, but they are routinely overwhelmed with patients presenting minor or moderate conditions that could safely be handled in a less intensive setting. Urgent care clinics serve as a practical middle ground, capable of handling a broken bone or a laceration requiring stitches, but structured to avoid the overhead and wait times of a full emergency department.

For South Shore communities like Hanover, Scituate, Marshfield, Norwell, and surrounding towns, having locally rooted providers who understand the region adds another layer of familiarity and trust to the equation. The clinic's staff aren't newcomers to the area, and they've been treating patients across southeastern Massachusetts for decades, in some cases spanning multiple generations of the same families.

Residents with questions about services, coverage, or whether a particular condition is appropriate for urgent care can call the clinic directly. Full service information, hours, and directions are available on the clinic's website. Health Express accepts walk-ins during all operating hours and is equipped to handle most non-life-threatening medical conditions. For emergencies, residents should always call 911 or go to the nearest emergency room.
