We are committed to keeping our skills and knowledge up to date as well so that we continue to help businesses get to the top. Remember, disgruntled clients do not just tell 10 to 25 people about their experience, they tell millions through social media. What we focus on is that an equal amount of people talk about their positive experiences."

Online reputation management is the bread and butter of YourProfitWeb, Inc. They have used consistent and proven tactics for years in order to help clients around Rochester, NY, get to the top of Google and other search engines, thereby dominating their competition. The tactics that the company has used have remained relevant during the Penguin and Panda updates. This is because Wroblewski is committed towards making sure the work they do always continues to follow Google's rules, while at the same time understanding what the demographics do.

"Consider that 80% of people now research a company online before deciding whether or not they will shop somewhere," adds Andrew Wroblewski. "What we do is make sure that those people come to our clients, and that they find positive information to convince them to actually shop there. All the while, we do this by following Google's rules. Put together, this places our clients in a position to truly become the go to source for whatever product or services they offer."
