All Pro Newton Deck Builders Expands Patio and Hardscape Services

June 05, 2026

NEWTON, MA - June 05, 2026 -
The contractor now serves 17 communities across Greater Boston with custom outdoor living space design and installation.

All Pro Newton Deck Builders announced it has expanded its patio and hardscape services to homeowners across 17 communities in the Greater Boston metropolitan area. The company, based in Newton Center, Massachusetts, now offers full-service patio design, hardscape installation, and outdoor living space construction to meet growing demand from residential property owners throughout the region.

The expansion comes as the outdoor living industry experiences sustained growth nationwide. The Freedonia Group forecasts demand for U.S. landscaping products to increase 3.5 percent annually, reaching $14.7 billion by 2028. Homeowner interest in functional outdoor spaces has accelerated that trend at the local level, with the National Association of Home Builders reporting that 58 percent of homeowners now prioritize a strong connection with nature in their outdoor living areas. All Pro Newton Deck Builders has responded by broadening its patio and hardscape services to include pressure washing, crack repair, custom patio construction, retaining walls, walkways, fire pits, and outdoor kitchen installations.

"We have seen a clear shift in what homeowners expect from their outdoor spaces," said John Greene, Owner of All Pro Newton Deck Builders. "Families are no longer satisfied with a basic concrete slab. They want functional areas where they can cook, entertain, and spend time together year-round. Our expanded hardscape installation services allow us to deliver exactly that, using materials like natural stone, pavers, and flagstone that hold up to New England weather conditions."

All Pro Newton Deck Builders currently serves Newton, Arlington, Belmont, Boston, Brookline, Cambridge, Dedham, Dover, Medford, Natick, Needham, Somerville, Waltham, Watertown, Wellesley, Weston, and Westwood. The company partners with Advanced Builders Co and offers free on-site estimates for all patio and hardscape projects. Industry data indicates that professional landscaping and hardscaping can increase a home's resale value by 15 to 20 percent, making these outdoor living spaces both a lifestyle improvement and a financial investment for property owners in the Greater Boston area.

The company's patio and hardscape division offers homeowners a range of material options, including concrete, brick pavers, natural stone, and flagstone. Each material is selected based on the property's architectural style, the homeowner's budget, and the climate demands of the northeastern United States, where freeze-thaw cycles can compromise improperly installed surfaces. All Pro Newton Deck Builders also provides eco-friendly alternatives such as permeable pavers, which allow rainwater to filter into the ground and reduce stormwater runoff. That approach aligns with a broader 2026 industry trend toward sustainable hardscape design, as municipalities across Massachusetts continue to encourage responsible water management on residential properties.

One distinction the company emphasizes is its ability to integrate patio and hardscape projects with its existing deck, porch, and pergola services. A homeowner who requests a new paver patio, for example, can coordinate that project with a pergola installation or a deck extension through a single contractor, rather than managing multiple vendors. That integrated model reduces scheduling conflicts, ensures consistent material selection across structures, and allows the company to address grading and drainage as part of a unified site plan. All Pro Newton Deck Builders reports that a growing share of its project inquiries now involve multi-structure outdoor spaces rather than standalone installations.

"The way people think about their yards has changed," said Greene. "Homeowners are approaching outdoor projects the same way they would a kitchen remodel ? they want a cohesive plan, not a patchwork of separate additions. All Pro Newton Deck Builders has built its workflow around that expectation, and the results show in the finished work."

Seasonal timing plays a significant role in patio and hardscape construction in New England. The company noted that spring and early fall remain the most favorable windows for installation, as moderate temperatures allow base materials and joint compounds to cure properly. A standard residential patio measuring 200 to 500 square feet typically requires three to seven days to complete, while larger projects that incorporate retaining walls, built-in seating, or fire pit structures can extend to two weeks. All Pro Newton Deck Builders encourages homeowners to schedule consultations in advance of peak season to secure preferred project dates and allow time for design planning, material sourcing, and any required municipal permits.
