

ARS Landscape Materials and Supply Launches Online Ordering Portal

May 27, 2026

ARVADA, CO - May 27, 2026 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

ARS Landscape Materials and Supply has launched an online ordering platform that allows customers to pre-order and purchase landscaping materials directly through the company's website. The new e-commerce feature replaces the previous process, in which customers contacted the company's Arvada yard by phone or email to arrange an order.

The platform covers ARS Landscape Materials and Supply's core product categories, including dirt and soil, rock and sand, decorative stone, and mulch. Customers can browse available materials, place an order, and arrange purchase online. The company said the change is intended to give customers a way to shop and order at a time that suits them, without needing to reach staff by phone to start an order.

ARS Landscape Materials and Supply has operated in the Denver area since 2010, supplying bulk landscaping materials to residential and commercial customers across the metro region. The company offers products such as fill dirt, compost, garden mix, planter's mix, river rock, sand, black stone crusher fines, cobble stone, mountain stone, granite road base, and several varieties of cedar and colored mulch. In addition to materials sales, ARS provides bulk delivery as well as excavation and grading services. Until now, ordering required direct contact with staff, and the online portal is the company's first system for handling purchases through the website itself.

"Adding online ordering gives our customers a more direct way to get the materials they need, on their own schedule," said Rina Bindi, owner of ARS Landscape Materials and Supply. "We wanted to make the ordering process simpler for people planning a project, whether they are working on a single garden bed or a larger job."

The shift toward online ordering reflects a broader pattern across the building and landscaping supply sector, where suppliers have increasingly added digital purchasing options alongside traditional phone and in-yard sales.

For ARS Landscape Materials and Supply, the platform is aimed at homeowners, contractors, and other buyers who prefer to plan and place material orders ahead of a project rather than coordinating each purchase by phone. The company serves Arvada, Boulder, Broomfield, and the wider Denver Metro area, and the online system is available to customers throughout that service region.

The new portal works alongside tools the company already offers to help customers prepare for a project. ARS Landscape Materials and Supply maintains an online price list and a materials calculator that lets customers estimate how much soil, rock, mulch, or stone a given area will require. Used together with online ordering, these tools allow a customer to calculate quantities, review pricing, and place an order in a single visit to the website. The company said this combination is meant to reduce the back-and-forth that bulk material orders have typically involved.

The company has indicated that its existing services, including bulk delivery and grading and excavation work, remain available alongside the new ordering option. Customers who prefer to speak with staff directly can still reach the company by phone or email, and the Arvada yard continues to handle orders and pickups as it has previously.

ARS Landscape Materials and Supply said the online portal is intended to add a purchasing option rather than replace the personal assistance the company has provided since it opened in 2010.
