

J&D Tree Service Expands Emergency Tree Removal Protocols for Southwest Missouri Storm Season

May 29, 2026

MONETT, MO - May 29, 2026 -
J&D Tree Service, a tree care company serving Southwest Missouri, has implemented enhanced emergency response protocols to address the increasing demand for rapid tree removal services during the region's active storm season. The updated procedures streamline crew deployment and equipment mobilization across Barry, Lawrence, Stone, and surrounding counties.

The enhanced protocols come in response to increasingly unpredictable weather patterns throughout Southwest Missouri, which frequently result in downed trees, damaged branches, and hazardous conditions requiring immediate professional attention. The restructured emergency response system reduces response times and improves coordination across the company's service area, including Monett, Cassville, Aurora, and Mount Vernon.

"The improved protocols allow us to mobilize our crews more efficiently when severe weather strikes," said John Marmon, owner of J&D Tree Service. "Property owners need immediate assistance to secure their homes and businesses after storm damage, and these enhancements ensure we can respond faster while maintaining our safety standards."

J&D Tree Service Tree Removal operations have expanded to accommodate the growing need for both emergency and preventive tree services. The company maintains specialized equipment and trained crews capable of handling trees of any size, even in confined spaces near homes and utility lines. Their comprehensive approach includes initial assessment, safety planning, careful removal, and complete cleanup of debris.

The timing of these enhanced protocols aligns with historical weather data showing increased severe weather activity in Southwest Missouri during spring and early summer months. The region has experienced multiple severe weather events in recent years, creating dangerous situations where large trees and branches threaten structures, vehicles, and power lines.

Beyond emergency response, the company continues to provide essential tree care services throughout Southwest Missouri. These services include removal of hazardous, dead, or unwanted trees; professional pruning and trimming to improve tree structure and longevity; and stump grinding to eliminate tripping hazards and prepare yards for new landscaping.

The enhanced emergency protocols build upon the company's existing round-the-clock availability for urgent tree-related hazards. J&D Expert Tree Service Professionals undergo regular training to stay current with industry best practices and safety procedures, ensuring each project meets professional standards regardless of complexity or urgency.

"Having completed over 500 jobs while maintaining a claims-free record demonstrates our commitment to safe, professional tree care," added Marmon. "These enhanced protocols represent our ongoing investment in serving Southwest Missouri property owners when they need us most."
