

A Plus Garage Door Repair Announces Service Program Update for Springville Operations

May 29, 2026

SPRINGVILLE, UT - May 29, 2026 -
A Plus Garage Door Repair, a garage door service provider operating in Springville and surrounding Utah communities, has announced updates to its service program structure effective through July 31, 2026. The program modifications address seasonal maintenance requirements and equipment upgrade patterns observed during peak summer usage periods.

The updated service structure encompasses four service categories: LiftMaster Elite Series opener installations with a $100 adjustment, spring replacement services at $75 for dual systems or $30 for single units, garage door installations with $200 pricing modifications, and a $49 safety inspection and maintenance service. The program operates during standard business hours, Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

"Temperature variations and increased usage during summer months create specific maintenance requirements for garage door systems," said Carrie Kelsch, Service Manager at A Plus Garage Door Repair. "The updated service structure reflects current market conditions and allows property owners to address mechanical issues before they develop into system failures."

The service modifications come as Utah County experiences growth in residential construction and renovation projects. Industry data indicates garage door maintenance requests typically increase 35 percent during summer months due to home improvement activities and temperature-related component stress.

A Plus Garage Door Repair Springville technicians report spring replacements constitute approximately 40 percent of service calls during warmer months. Temperature fluctuations cause metal components to expand and contract, accelerating wear patterns in torsion and extension spring systems. The company utilizes industry-standard safety protocols and matches spring specifications to individual door weights and dimensions.

The LiftMaster Elite Series represents current technology trends in residential garage door systems. These units incorporate Wi-Fi connectivity, battery backup systems, and smartphone integration capabilities. Installation procedures include system configuration, safety sensor calibration, and integration with existing garage door structures.

Garage door replacement services cover steel, aluminum, wood, wood composite, glass, and insulated models. Installation processes involve precise measurements, structural mounting, and alignment with existing garage frameworks. The $200 program adjustment applies to residential installations scheduled during regular service hours.

The safety and maintenance service includes multi-point inspections covering springs, cables, rollers, tracks, weather seals, and safety sensors. Technicians perform lubrication procedures and adjustments based on manufacturer specifications and industry standards.

A Plus Garage Door Repair deals include financing options through third-party providers for qualified applicants. Service documentation must be presented at the time of appointment, and program terms cannot be combined with other service modifications. Emergency repair services remain available 24/7 for situations requiring immediate attention outside standard operating hours.

The company's service territory encompasses Utah County, with technicians certified to service major garage door and opener manufacturers. Service vehicles carry standard replacement components for common repair requirements, reducing wait times for routine maintenance procedures.

A Plus Garage Door Repair operates from its Springville facility at 1190 N Main St #17. The company
