Certification Coaching Operations, LLC, (CCO) a business in Oceanville, NJ, has released a brand new course. The ICD-10-PCS Procedural Coding System course is a 40 hour full course for medical coders who want to master their understanding of the ICD-10-PCS Procedural Coding System. The ICD-10-PCS online course is now available for purchase.

Laureen Jandroep, CPC, CPC-I, COC, CMSCS, CHCI, CPPM, founder/CEO of Certification Coaching Operations, LLC says: "This advanced level course, led by our Senior Instructor Alicia Scott, is a great resource for medical coders looking to take the next step in their careers. Whether you are looking to learn the procedural coding side of inpatient coding, improve your auditing skills, or just plan to take the CCS exam, this detail oriented class will provide the knowledge you need to improve your skill set."

The company offers a range of medical coding online courses. They ensure coders are able to obtain the information they need, get certified in their profession, and stay certified by meeting the continuous education requirements for their certifications. The ICD-10-PCS is the International Classification of Disease tenth revision Procedure Coding System, which is a system of medical classification used for procedural codes that track various health interventions taken by medical professionals.

The company has also launched a Facebook page for medical coders. Here, professionals can learn about the various courses that are available to them, how to remain certified, and generally get into contact with fellow coders to build their own network. The page has also been used by many to leave reviews about the courses they have completed. "I love CCO," says Adrea B. on the Facebook page. "I tell anyone and everyone I can about this site. Awesome stuff here. And without you I would have never passed my cco exam. Thank you everyone at CCO for everything and all you do!"

Those interested in the new coding course, or any other courses offered by CCO are encouraged to visit the company's website and to like their Facebook page. In so doing, they can also be kept up to date with the release of any new courses.
