April 29, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Dot&Dot Amazon store speaks about the success of their unique yet practical travel bottles, which serve as small liquid containers for shampoo, conditioner, lotion and other toiletries. Since introduced, the product has received a myriad of positive reviews on Amazon.

Since it was put up on their Amazon listings, Dot&Dot store has been receiving perpetual sales and five star reviews for the product. The Dot&Dot states that they were always sure this product was going to be a hit because people are always looking for affordable solutions to their problems. These BPA free travel containers allow people to carry liquids, food, beverages or product with them without any sort of fear of leakage inside bags.

The official spokesperson for Dot&Dot spoke about this product and the success it has brought them in an official statement ?Here at Dot&Dot, our top-seller product on Amazon is the FDA approved four piece set of travel bottles. Since the very start, this product has brought in perpetual sales and positive reviews from the buyers, thus bringing us lots of success on our online store,? he further went in depth about the product itself and the special features it manifests ?These bottles are made of 100% BPA free food-grade silicone that is not only extremely durable but also safe for carrying food or beverages. Furthermore, we also include a TSA approved toiletry bag in this deal to make travelling more convenient for our buyers.?

It is stated by the store that almost all buyers who have bought this product have been compelled to leave behind a positive review. Here is what one satisfied purchaser stated in his five star review of the product ?Quite excellent. I keep them in my backpack, and use them at the gym. They are easy to dry and do not have leakage. When applying my shampoo or conditioner it does not leak onto the lid, which makes it ideal for storing in my nice backpack.?
