Project Success Coach Preben Ormen has recently announced the release of a new report that is designed to help people with their personal outsourcing. The free report How to Outsource Without Being a Ninny Hammer, was written by one of the biggest customers of Upwork (formerly Odesk).

"It outlines the most common mistakes that people make when they are outsourcing for profit," states Ormen. "My goal by sharing this report is to help people to realize how they can avoid these mistakes, and ultimately keep more money in their pockets."

Ormen states that the free report was used by marketers who have outsourced to great advantages to dramatically increase not only their own productivity, but their business as well. It offers real life stories that marketers can learn from because specific details about common mistakes as well as how to avoid them are given.

"It also makes the case that outsourcing is not just for big companies - it is a viable option for smaller organizations and even individuals," states Ormen. He says that this report is based on years of experience in the field, and that the information provided will be useful to organizations in any industry.

Ormen states that he also provides a video How Anyone Can Increase Personal Productivity Through Outsourcing that can give insights into successful strategies as well.

Prior to launching his coaching and mentoring services, Ormen was a consultant and has more than 40 years of experience in helping companies to produce more efficient and effective personnel. He has extensive experience in areas of process improvement and creating technology such as computer systems and applications work for a wide range of industry clientele.
