

DOXA CUSTOM HOMES LLC Launches Faith-Centered Remodeling Services in Knoxville Market

June 19, 2026

KNOXVILLE, TN - June 19, 2026 -

DOXA CUSTOM HOMES LLC has officially launched comprehensive design-and-build remodeling services in West Knoxville and Farragut, Tennessee, bringing West Coast construction standards and faith-driven values to the local home renovation market. Founded by Emik Nikora, a first-generation immigrant whose family survived communist oppression, the company specializes in kitchen, bathroom, and full home remodeling projects.

The company name DOXA, derived from the Greek word for glory, reflects both the founding family's journey through hardship under communism and their commitment to creating work that carries lasting meaning. This foundation shapes every aspect of the company's approach to residential remodeling in the Tennessee market.

Nikora developed his expertise in high-end residential markets across California and the Seattle area before establishing operations in Tennessee. These West Coast standards now define the company's methodology in serving Knoxville-area homeowners who value quality craftsmanship and transparent communication throughout the remodeling process.

As a kitchen remodeling contractor, Doxa Home distinguishes itself through its fine-construction approach, which emphasizes meticulous planning, clear client communication, and craftsmanship designed for long-term value rather than quick turnaround. This methodology involves comprehensive design consultation, transparent project timelines, skilled trade coordination, and attention to finishing details that elevate the final result beyond standard renovation work.

"Starting this company represents more than launching another remodeling business in Knoxville," said Emik Nikora, founder of DOXA CUSTOM HOMES LLC. "Having witnessed my family's struggles under communism and the opportunities America provided us, I founded this company to deliver remodeling services with integrity, respect, and genuine craftsmanship. Homeowners in West Knoxville and Farragut deserve a contractor who values their investment and treats their home with the same care we would give our own."

The company's service portfolio encompasses complete kitchen redesigns, cabinet installation and refinishing, countertop replacement, custom lighting and backsplash installation, flooring updates, and appliance integration. Kitchen remodeling projects range from standard tier renovations starting at $50,000 to elite tier transformations reaching $300,000, with each level offering varying degrees of customization and material quality.

Bathroom remodeling services include walk-in shower installations, custom vanity design, lighting upgrades, and complete flooring replacement. Full home remodels from Doxa Home address comprehensive property transformation, maintaining consistent design aesthetics while improving functionality and long-term property value.

DOXA CUSTOM HOMES LLC operates as a family-owned design-and-build firm serving West Knoxville, Farragut, and surrounding communities. The company maintains Tennessee contractor licensing and plans to pursue NARI membership, reinforcing its commitment to industry standards and professional development. The firm's integrated design-build model allows clients to work with a single team from initial concept through final construction, streamlining communication and ensuring project cohesion.

The company measures success through client relationships and project outcomes rather than volume metrics, focusing on delivering organized, transparent remodeling experiences that respect both the homeowner's vision and investment.
