

Monett Veterinary Hospital Highlights Doggy Daycare Services for Aurora and Missouri Communities

June 22, 2026

MONETT, MO - June 22, 2026 -
Monett Veterinary Hospital emphasizes the importance of structured daycare programs for dogs as pet owners throughout southwestern Missouri seek reliable socialization and exercise options for their canine companions. The AAHA-accredited facility, which has served the region since 1953, provides comprehensive daycare services designed to support canine behavioral health and physical wellness.

The Monett Vet Doggy Daycare program offers supervised play sessions in a controlled environment where dogs can interact safely with other pets while receiving professional oversight from trained staff members. The service addresses growing concerns about canine anxiety and behavioral issues that often stem from isolation and lack of proper socialization, particularly as more pet owners return to office work schedules following recent years of remote employment.

"Regular daycare attendance provides essential mental stimulation and physical activity that many dogs miss when left alone during work hours," said Erin Carnes, Daycare Coordinator at Monett Veterinary Hospital.

"We see significant improvements in dogs' social skills and overall temperament when they participate in structured play groups with appropriate supervision and guidance."

The facility serves pet owners from Pierce City, Purdy, Cassville, Mt Vernon, and Aurora, providing a central location for residents throughout the region to access professional pet care services. The daycare program operates alongside the hospital's comprehensive veterinary services, allowing staff to monitor participants' health while providing enrichment activities.

Daycare services at Monett Veterinary Hospital include supervised group play sessions, individual attention for dogs requiring special care, regular exercise periods, and rest breaks throughout the day. Staff members evaluate each dog's temperament and energy level to ensure appropriate group placement, maintaining safety while encouraging positive social interactions.

The Monett Vet Dog Boarding facility complements the daycare program by offering extended care options for pet owners traveling or facing emergency situations. The boarding services include climate-controlled indoor spaces, customized feeding schedules, medication administration when needed, and daily health observations by veterinary professionals.

Monett Veterinary Hospital received the AAHA Commitment to Excellence Award in 2007 and continues to maintain accreditation standards that reflect best practices in veterinary medicine and pet care services. The facility's evolution from a single-veterinarian practice established by Dr. C.J. McCormick in 1953 to a comprehensive animal care center demonstrates its commitment to meeting changing community needs.

The hospital's range of services extends beyond daycare and boarding to include routine and specialized surgery, radiology, internal medicine, preventive care programs, grooming, and an in-house laboratory. This integrated approach allows pet owners to access multiple services at a single location while ensuring continuity of care for their animals.

Monett Veterinary Hospital continues to adapt its services to meet evolving pet care needs in southwestern Missouri communities. The facility's daycare and boarding programs represent essential components of comprehensive pet wellness, supporting both physical health and behavioral development for dogs throughout the region.
