

Beacon of Life Chiropractic Highlights Role of Kate Bullard in Dahlia Medical Light Therapy Services

June 08, 2026

ROYERSFORD, PA - June 08, 2026 -

Beacon of Life Chiropractic highlights the contributions of Kate Bullard, Program Coordinator for Dahlia Medical Light Therapy Services. With over a decade of experience supporting individuals on wellness journeys, Kate Bullard brings expertise to her role at the Royersford practice. Her background includes ten years of virtually coaching women and men through customized nutrition and fitness protocols.

Kate Bullard serves as the first point of contact for clients interested in the therapy. In this position, she educates new clients on the service and guides them through personalized treatment plans. Her role includes providing ongoing support throughout the process.

Dahlia Medical Light Therapy at Beacon of Life Chiropractic utilizes red and near-infrared light delivered through a bed system. This non-invasive modality aims to stimulate cellular processes. Research indicates that red and near-infrared light can support mitochondrial function and ATP production. Studies have explored its potential in areas such as tissue recovery and inflammation management.

The practice offers this therapy as part of its services in Royersford. Kate Bullard coordinates client intake, education and plan development. Her approach draws from experience in nutrition and fitness coaching to support individuals pursuing goals related to wellness.

Beacon of Life Chiropractic operates as a faith-based, family-owned practice. Kate Bullard contributes to the team by serving as a dedicated contact for clients exploring light therapy options. The service integrates with the practice's other offerings under the direction of licensed chiropractors.

Kate Bullard's professional path includes a focus on helping individuals build sustainable habits. She finds fulfillment in meeting new clients and noting their progress. Outside of work, she spends time with her husband and two children, pursues painting with works exhibited locally, enjoys skiing and exercise, and participates in church community activities at Jerusalem Lutheran in Schwenksville.

"Supporting clients through medical light therapy involves providing clear information and consistent guidance as they work toward their goals," said Kate Bullard, Dahlia Medical Light Therapy Services Program Coordinator at Beacon of Life Chiropractic.

The therapy sessions utilize a bed system that delivers specific wavelengths. According to available information, this approach may assist with cellular energy production and other physiological responses. Peer-reviewed sources have examined photobiomodulation for potential benefits in healing and circulation.

Dr. Megan McClimon, co-founder and chiropractor, contributes to the clinical oversight of services at the practice. The team structure supports coordinated care for patients. Kate Bullard's coordination of the light therapy program adds to the range of options available.

"Offering Dahlia Medical Light Therapy expands the ways we can support patient wellness goals through non-invasive methods," said Dr. Megan McClimon, co-founder and chiropractor at Beacon of Life Chiropractic.

Beacon of Life Chiropractic provides services to residents of Royersford and surrounding areas in Montgomery County. The practice maintains a focus on patient-centered care. Kate Bullard's role helps ensure clients receive structured support when engaging with the light therapy program.

Her experience in coaching informs her current responsibilities. This background aids in developing plans that align with individual circumstances. Daily client interactions form a key part of her coordination duties.

The practice continues to deliver chiropractic care alongside supportive modalities. The inclusion of specialized roles such as Kate Bullard's strengthens the team's capacity to address various wellness interests. This setup reflects standard operations at the Royersford location.

Kate Bullard remains active in her coordination responsibilities. Her contributions highlight the collaborative nature of the practice environment. The program serves as one component of the broader services offered by Beacon of Life Chiropractic.
