

Buda Bounce House Party Rentals Brings the Party to Any 4th of July Celebration

June 08, 2026

Buda, Texas - June 08, 2026 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Buda Bounce House Party Rentals has announced an expanded set of Independence Day rental packages for the 2026 season, including a new tiered pricing structure for homeowners associations, nonprofit organizations, and community groups in Hays County. The updated offerings represent the company's first formalized community event program since it began operations and are available for bookings through July 4th weekend.

Hays County is one of the fastest-growing counties in Texas, adding tens of thousands of new residents over the past five years, according to U.S. Census Bureau estimates. The influx has led to a significant increase in neighborhood block parties, HOA community events, and organized Independence Day gatherings across Buda, Kyle, and the surrounding area. Rodrigo Rodriguez, owner of Buda Bounce House Party Rentals, said the new pricing tier was developed in direct response to requests from local HOA organizers and event coordinators who needed a more structured, scalable option for larger community events.

“Over the past two years we’ve seen a real shift in how neighborhoods here celebrate the 4th of July,” Rodriguez said. “HOAs and community groups are organizing larger, more structured events, and they need a vendor partner who can scale with them. This season we formalized that relationship with pricing and logistics built specifically for community-scale events.”

The 2026 Independence Day lineup includes four units new to the company’s inventory: a patriotic-themed 15x15 bounce castle, a dual-lane 18-foot water slide, a 40-foot obstacle course, and a large-format combo unit accommodating up to eight children simultaneously. Returning inventory items, including a standard dunk tank and several toddler-safe bounce units, have been incorporated into bundle packages priced for events of 50 to 300 attendees.

All rentals include delivery, setup, and teardown by a company crew. Rodriguez noted that on-time delivery has been a consistent operational priority, pointing to the company’s service record across Buda, Kyle, Wimberley, San Marcos, South Austin and Manchaca.

“We live here. Our kids go to school here,” Rodriguez said. “When we show up to your driveway on the 4th of July, we’re not just doing a job, we’re part of the same community. That accountability matters to us, and I think it shows in how we operate.”

The company’s inflatables are commercial-grade units manufactured to ASTM F2374 and F2376 safety standards. Each unit is inspected before and after every rental. The company carries general liability insurance and anchors all equipment per manufacturer specifications. Rodriguez said the company has completed more than hundreds of rentals since its founding without a safety incident.

Rodriguez said the new community pricing tier will remain available beyond the July 4th season and is intended to make inflatable entertainment accessible for school events, nonprofit fundraisers, and civic gatherings throughout the year. Organizations interested in community event pricing can contact the company directly to discuss scope and logistics before booking.

Availability for Independence Day weekend is limited. Reservations are being accepted online at BudaBounceHouse.com and by phone.
