

Byerly RV Recognized in St. Louis Magazine A-List Awards Voting

June 11, 2026

TROY, MO - June 11, 2026 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Byerly RV, a longstanding RV dealership in the St. Louis area, is participating in the current voting period for the St. Louis Magazine A-List Awards in the RV Sales and Service category. With voting open through June 16, the recognition reflects the dealership's ongoing role in supporting local RV owners and the broader recreational vehicle community.

The A-List Awards, presented annually by St. Louis Magazine, highlight businesses across various categories based on community input. For Byerly RV, inclusion in the RV Sales and Service category underscores decades of service to families and individuals engaged in RV travel throughout the region. The dealership has operated in the St. Louis area since 1948, evolving from a manufacturer of travel trailers into a full-service operation.

Warren Patton, President and Owner of Byerly RV, said, "Our team appreciates the continued support from the community, which has allowed us to provide sales, service, parts, and educational resources to RV owners for generations. This type of recognition highlights the importance of reliable support for those who enjoy the RV lifestyle."

Byerly RV maintains one of Missouri's largest RV service centers and parts departments, offering maintenance and repairs that help keep vehicles operational for seasonal and long-distance trips. The company also operates Byerly RV University, providing classes on RV systems, maintenance, and travel preparation topics. These programs support owners in areas such as pre-trip inspections, route considerations, and operational readiness.

The dealership's facilities include a state-of-the-art service center, body shop, rental fleet, and both indoor and outdoor storage options. As the only Missouri member of the Priority RV Network, Byerly RV connects customers with nationwide service support at more than 180 locations. This network proves particularly valuable for owners undertaking extended travel during the summer months.

RV ownership involves various operational demands, especially during peak travel periods. Proper preparation includes checking vehicle systems, planning routes that accommodate RV dimensions, and accounting for weather variations. Dealerships like Byerly RV contribute to this process by offering technical expertise and resources that help owners address common challenges such as fuel planning, campground coordination, and pacing for longer journeys.

The Patton family has owned and operated Byerly RV for three generations. The business began when Walter Byerly started building travel trailers in the 1940s. John Patton acquired the company in 1967, transitioning it fully into retail sales and service. Subsequent leadership by Russ Patton and now Warren Patton has focused on expanding facilities and services while preserving the company's commitment to customer support.

Recent investments include a new body shop in Troy and expanded service bays at the Eureka headquarters. These enhancements allow the dealership to handle a wider range of maintenance needs, from routine seasonal preparations to more complex repairs. The company carries multiple RV brands and offers both new and pre-owned inventory, though its service and educational offerings remain central to long-term owner support.

Community involvement has been a consistent aspect of Byerly RV's operations. Participation in local awards voting provides an opportunity for customers to acknowledge businesses that have contributed to the regional economy and recreational opportunities. Voting for the A-List Awards remains open daily through the deadline, allowing residents to share their perspectives on favored establishments.

As summer travel increases, many RV owners focus on ensuring their vehicles are prepared for the road. Resources from established dealerships play a role in promoting safer and more informed travel practices. Byerly RV continues to emphasize education and maintenance as key components of responsible RV ownership.

Byerly RV is a third-generation, family-owned dealership based in Eureka, Missouri. Founded in 1948, the company has grown to serve RV enthusiasts with sales, service, parts, rentals, and storage. It operates the largest RV service center and parts store in Missouri and maintains membership in the Priority RV Network for nationwide support. Through Byerly RV University and other programs, the dealership provides ongoing education to help owners maximize their RV experiences.
